American Legion Picks Los Angeles for 1938 Conclave

HINES ALSO SPEAKS

Brigadier General Urges Tolerance Toward New Ideas

New York—(AP)—The American Legion today selected Los Angeles, Calif., as the city of its 1938 convention.

The choice was made after Frank N. Belgrano, former national commander, had painted the glories of the city in a speech climaxing a lively advertising campaign conducted by Los Angeles legionnaires since they began drifting in here last week.

Denver and Chicago had made bids for the next year's convention.

Closer cooperation between the legion and his own organization was recommended today by William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, in and address before 1,329 delegates to the legion's nineteenth annual convention.

Another speaker, Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, urged upon the legionnaires and auxiliaries tolerance toward new ideas.

"It is my well-considered opinion," Green said, "that the call of the hour is for a closer and stronger relationship between the American Federation of Labor and the American Legion."

"We have so much in common as to make it comparatively easy to promote understanding and co-operation between these two great patriotic forces."

He also warned the convention against the destructive forces of communism and nazism which he said were at work in this country, and he stressed the necessity of preserving democratic forms of government in the United States.

"You are the kind of citizens always needed to lead our people into proper channels and safeguard our democratic institutions from any disruptive force inimical to our ideals, and which today appear to present a growing threat to world peace," General Hines remarked in opening.

He told the legionnaires "many conditions signify that unemployment among veterans has been materially reduced during the past year" because of the "intelligent functioning of governmental agencies" and through the efforts of the legion.

Turning to the forthcoming census to determine the extent of unemployment in the country, the general said:

"It is my intention to recommend to the committee in charge of this census that appropriate questions be inserted in the census schedules to ascertain whether the individuals covered are veterans, and of what wars. Here again your organization may be able to render a valuable service by encouraging unemployed veterans to make sure that they are registered in this census."

Having called upon the legion for closer cooperation with the federation, Green reminded the delegates of the spread of dictatorship rule and the dissolution of free, democratic trade unions in autocrat-hidden lands.

"Their property and funds are immediately confiscated, their organizations are dissolved and wiped out by dictatorial decree, and worst of all, their leaders are seized and ruthlessly destroyed or consigned to prison or concentration camps. Many of them are never heard from again," he said.

"Happily," he said after dealing further with the effects of oppressive rule, "the people of the United States still breathe the air of freedom and liberty."

The Legion gave Fifth avenue back to New York today and went to work on the more serious phases of its convention.

Roosevelt Ready To Leave Today On Western Trip

Will Make No Appearances Until Train Reaches Cheyenne Friday

Hyde Park, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt ordered his heavy clothes packed today for a whirlwind two-weeks tour to Seattle and back to find out among other things what the country is thinking about administration objectives.

His 10-car special train, equipped with public address apparatus, was ordered to be ready to depart this afternoon (around 3 o'clock, Appleton time).

Mrs. Roosevelt, a staff of White House secretarial aids, and a score of newspaper men were to accompany him on the trip, which will end either in Washington or Hyde Park Oct. 6 after appearances and informal talks in eight northwestern and middle western states.

The journey also will include an inspection of many federal projects and a "good neighbor" excursion to British Columbia by destroyer.

Traveling the central route, the train tonight will pass through Buffalo, Cleveland and northern Indiana, and tomorrow through Chicago and southern Iowa. No appearances will be made, however, until the train reaches Cheyenne, Wyo., Friday morning.

Warns Reporters

At a press conference at the summer White House late yesterday the president advised the newspaper men to take along their "heavies" on the 6,000 mile swing because of the cold northwest nights. He had in mind particularly the reports of snow in Yellowstone park where he will spend Saturday and Sunday night seeing the country.

The chief executive also took the opportunity to admonish the trip reporters against guessing his purpose in visiting certain cities and passing up others.

He had noticed stories that he had arranged to pass through Nebraska, home state of Democratic Senator Burke, a supreme court bill foe, late at night without appearances, and would make his first rear platform talk at Cheyenne, home of Senator O'Mahoney, another Democratic court bill opponent.

He said he was not passing up Nebraska for political reasons, but he explained, he could not work that state's projects into his itinerary without adding another whole day to the already crowded trip.

Cummings' Aid Won't Discuss Black and Klan

Washington — (AP)—William E. Fort, a former law partner of associate Justice L. Hugo Black, said today he would leave it up to the jurist to say whether they were fellow members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Fort, now a special assistant to Attorney General Cummings, refused to discuss Klan affiliation with reporters.

"Mr. Black is on his way home," Fort told newsmen, "and I am sure that any statement he makes on his arrival will be the truth."

Fort and Black formed their law partnership in Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 1, 1925, and terminated it two years later.

At present Fort is serving in the criminal division of the justice department. He has been a member of Cummings' staff since Aug. 1, 1933.

Man Held After Crash Confesses Jail-Break

Oregon, Ill.—(AP)—Sheriff Delos Blanchard of Ogle county said today Robert Carmross, 29, arrested yesterday after an automobile accident, admitted he was a former convict and escaped recently from jail at Portage, Wis., where he was held pending trial on a forgery charge.

Blanchard said the prisoner told him he forged a check to buy an auto at Kingman, Ariz., and had served two years at Waupun, Wis., penitentiary, upon conviction of robbery at Green Bay. The sheriff said Carmross indicated he would fight extradition.

BULLETIN

About $9,000 in stamps and cash taken from the Clintonville post office Sunday night by two burglars who escaped after gun battles with police, was recovered this afternoon on the Joe Tuma farm about 6 miles southwest of Clintonville. Mr. and Mrs. Tuma were moving some straw in the barn when they discovered burlap sacks containing the stamps and cash. A check-up to determine what, if any part of the loot is missing was underway at the Clintonville post office this afternoon.

Predict Slash in Work Relief Funds

Government Expected to Move Toward Balancing Federal Budget

Washington—(AP)—Informed fiscal officials predicted today the administration will trim work relief spending substantially during the next fiscal year in an effort to balance the budget.

Hearings on the 1938-39 budget already have been started by Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director. President Roosevelt will submit estimates to congress in January.

The cue for the relief prediction came from a statement issued yesterday by Marvin H. McIntyre, a White House secretary, saying Mr. Roosevelt has made final allocation under the 1937 public works extension act.

He also has approved Secretary Ickes' rejection of numerous projects because applicants were able to finance them without federal help.

The statement said need for jobs provided through the PWA had decreased with the passing of the economic extremity. It referred also to "the need to curtail the federal budget."

Aluminum Workers for Strike at Two Plants

Manitowish — (AP)—Assemblyman David Sigman, an A. F. of L. organizer, announced today union employees of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company here and at Two Rivers voted in favor of a strike at the two plants. The union has gone through prolonged negotiations with the company.

Sigman did not say when the strike would be called but said William Green, president of the A. F. of L., had wired him authority to call the strike "in the event you determine it justified."

"The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of striking," Sigman said, "with strikes sentiment stronger in Manitowish than in Two Rivers. The ratio was about three to one for striking."

Voyta Wrabetz, chairman of the state labor board was here today to attempt a settlement of the controversy.

Massachusetts Slaying Awaits Death Sentence

Dedham, Mass.—(AP)—Calm and boasting that "I don't worry," stocky Oscar Bartolini, 31-year-old Quinby handyman, sat stoically behind bars at Dedham jail today and awaited the death sentence that is mandatory with his conviction for first degree murder.

Pronounced guilty of the dismembered slaying of Mrs. Grace Asquith, widow of Weymouth hotel owner, the Quinby chief kissed the hand of his counsel, George Louie, as he was led off to jail and whispered reassuringly, "that's all right."

Jury Foreman Frederick Price, white-haired and grave, read the verdict to a half-filled courtroom a few minutes after midnight, 6 hours and 37 minutes after the Norfolk county jurors filed out to ponder Bartolini's fate.

Charm 'Students' Are Given Lesson In Posture, Grace

Castle Hall Packed Again As Janette Serrec Gives 2nd Talk

They turned them away again last night. Woman's eternal interest in how to make herself more attractive is drawing the feminine population of Appleton and the vicinity to the Appleton Post-Crescent charm school by the hundreds, and although scores of additional chairs were provided last night, there still wasn't enough room.

Miss Serrec, who was fortunate enough to get into Castle hall on the corner of E. Lawrence and S. Morrison streets, where the remaining two sessions of the charm school at 8 o'clock tonight and Thursday night will also be held, heard Janette Serrec, who is conducting the school, outline the rules for good posture, and were urged to be good home makers rather than perfect housekeepers. They also saw a fashion clinic that included everything from foundation garments to riding habits and fur coats, and heard Don Gerlach play entertainingly at the piano.

Jobless Count Plans Get Roosevelt's O. K.

Hyde Park, N. Y.—(AP)—John D. Biggers, administrator of the unemployment census, announced after a summer White House conference today President Roosevelt had approved final plans for the voluntary enumeration. He added he expected the count to be completed before Dec. 1.

Biggers said the president had given him "adequate authority" and approved an expenditure up to $5,000,000.

"We intend to keep well within that figure without slighting thoroughness," he added.

Slaying Suspect Fails To Win Change of Venue

Eau Claire — (AP)—Circuit Judge James Wickham today denied a plea of Carl Johnson, 35, for a change of venue.

Johnson is charged with second degree murder for the fatal shooting of Joyce Sorenson, 14, here June 29. His counsel has entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

A bullet, fired through the home of Johnson's brother, Alk, struck the girl as she played on the sidewalk.

Padway Tells Federation CIO Aiming At 'Destruction of the Organized'

Manitowish, Wis.—(AP)—Joseph Padway, counsel for the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, told delegates to the forty-fifth annual state convention of that group today the purpose of the CIO was "destruction of the organized labor movement." He demanded the ouster of CIO members from any A. F. of L. group.

"Any man who is a member of a CIO organization has no business in an A. F. of L. organization," Padway asserted, "and in decency and honesty he should leave. And if he doesn't proper steps should be taken to have him leave."

Discussing the case of the Simmons Co. Federal union at Kenosha, Padway said:

"Emil Costello (Simmons union president expelled from the A. F. of L. last week) has maligned officers of the A. F. of L. Costello has

House Ponders Action on Tax And Relief Bill

Considers 15 Amendments And Catlin's Substitute Proposal

DELAY IN SENATE

Appleton Assemblyman Favors County Boards Group Proposals

Madison—(AP)—The assembly will tackle Governor LaFollette's $3,000,000 relief-tax bill late this afternoon, considering 15 amendments and a complete substitute proposal.

Both houses met for a few minutes this morning, the senate adjourning until tomorrow morning when it will take up the relief measure.

Today was the last day for introduction of bills by individual members and Senators Morvin Duell (R), Bond Du Lac, and Kenneth White (D) of River Falls, were drafting a separate plan to provide additional funds for a highway safety program. The administration relief bill carries a "rider" permitting the highway commission to use $500,000 of its funds now and $750,000 in succeeding years in such a program.

A separate bill had been introduced in the assembly by Maurice Fitzsimons (D), Fond du Lac, which limits the commission to use of $100,000 annually for an educational campaign.

Catlin Measure

The substitute relief bill, offered by Assemblyman Mark Catlin (R), Appleton, carries out several suggestions of the Wisconsin County Boards association. It would appropriate $1,500,000 annually for relief, of which $800,000 would be allotted to counties in proportion to their relief loads, and the other $700,000 used in a "fire department" manner of answering distress calls for which the administration plans to use the entire appropriation.

Catlin's plan would permit the local units of government to decide who is eligible for relief.

An amendment introduced by Assemblyman Elmer Genzmer (D), Appleton, would permit the industrial commission, or whatever agency is designated by the governor to handle relief, to refuse funds to any county if it was satisfied a number of persons on such county's relief rolls had refused private employment.

Genzmer also offered an amendment to the safety program provision, proposing to distribute the funds to counties and cities in proportion to the amounts they spend for highway and street improvements.

Clee Is Winner in New Jersey Race

Clergyman Has Lead of Over 60,000 in G. O. P. Gubernatorial Battle

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—State Senator Lester H. Clee, the Presbyterian clergyman from Newark who entered politics as an amateur only three years ago, today saw his winning margin in the Republican gubernatorial primary election swell past the 60,000 vote mark.

As final returns emphasized his decisive victory over Clifford R. Powell, state senator from Burlington county and veteran of 22 years in public life, they also boosted to an impressive total the man Clee must beat for the governorship in November—United States Senator A. Harry Moore, who had no opposition for the Democratic nomination for a third term as governor.

With 52 districts missing, Clee polled 242,529 votes to 179,519 for Powell. Moore, who entered politics in 1905 and is recognized as one of the state's best vote-getters, had 251,983 votes.

Eight Soviet Officials Are Sentenced to Death

Moscow—(AP)—Eight officials were sentenced to death today by a court which convicted them of attempting to create discontent within the soviet regime by running a collective farm.

Their offenses allegedly occurred in the Lotoshin region of Moscow province and were undertaken in hope of restoring capitalism.

The condemned officials were described as "members of a Trotsky-Bukharin nest" closely connected with fascist agents in the Moscow provincial agriculture department.

(Nicola Bukharin, former editor of communist party organ Pravda, is believed to be in prison.)

It was charged there had been thefts of hundreds of bushels of grain and the "willful spoiling" of stored grain.

Ruth Roland, Former Movie Star, Is Dead

Hollywood — (AP)—Ruth Roland, star of the silent movie serial "Thriller" of two decades ago, died today at her home here. She had been ill a long time.

Her actor husband, Ben Bard, was with her when she died.

Miss Roland entered motion pictures in 1912, and advanced to stardom in the serials. She stepped from the screen to real estate about ten years ago and made a fortune in Los Angeles property.

The 155-pound, five-foot-four actress suffered for many years from an injury to the vertebra. She was hurt during one of her cowboy serial pictures, when she was thrown from a horse.

Japanese Planes Rain Bombs on Nanking in Two Attacks; 200 Dead

Report 300 Killed at Canton in Series Of Jap Raids

THROGS IN FLIGHT

Chinese Defenders are Pushed Back in Northern District

Hong Kong—(AP)—Three hundred lives were feared lost at Canton today in a series of devastating raids by Japanese bombing planes.

The fourth attack of the day and the sixth within 24 hours came in mid-afternoon. Estimates of the toll in lives and property—all unofficial—mounted hourly.

Foreign eye witnesses told of piles of bodies, most of them civilians, in the streets of the southern Chinese metropolis. Official comment on the havoc wrought by the raiders was lacking.

The Japanese army apparently were trying to crush the morale of the Canton populace. Railway facilities were taxed by throngs trying to flee the city.

Foreign observers described the scene at the Canton railway station. Fear-crazed men, women and children sought safety under two trains standing near the station. The trains were rocked by nearby bombs while the refugees huddled under them.

Six fires sprang up in the wake of today's third onslaught in which nine large warcraft dove and wheeled above the city for an hour dumping great cargoes of explosives.

Many civilians were reported killed and injured or suffering from the deafening concussion of the bombs. There were no official statements on the loss in life or property. Canton is about 60 miles northwest of Hong Kong, on the Canton river.

The first raid came in the dead of the night, starting at 2 o'clock a. m.

CHINESE FALL BACK

Peiping—(AP)—The southward thrust of the Japanese expeditionary force in North China today pushed the Chinese back to their strong defense line cutting from east to west across central Hopeh province.

A Japanese army of 60,000 men had advanced 70 miles south from Peiping to within two miles of the defense line on the western flank of the Pootung sector. On the east, a strong Japanese column occupied the last village five miles north of Tsangchow.

A major battle that probably would decide the fate of North China was believed imminent. Foreign military observers said that, if Japan could break the 100-mile barrier of concrete forts and dugouts in the Pootung sector, Chinese resistance north of the yellow river would be crushed.

Two Chinese Armies

The Chinese were known to have two field armies of regular troops, numbering at least 150,000 well-trained men, entrenched along the line. They were fresh troops which have not yet been in battle.

The Japanese, on the other hand, have been fighting doggedly for every line of their advance. Chinese provincial divisions have held up the Japanese drive for two months, fighting a slow withdrawal action.

As they fell back on the prepared defense line the Chinese regional troops dug in to bolster the already strong position. The Chinese were overwhelmingly strong numerically and were believed to have adequate artillery and mechanized units to meet the Japanese mechanized army which heretofore has had little like opposition.

Six Recaptured After Escaping

New Prison in Georgia Not In Full Operation, Officials Explain

Reidsville, Ga.—(AP)—Six convicts escaped last night from Georgia's listening new Tattall prison, but were recaptured early today.

State officials hastened to explain the $1,500,000 structure, built by the public works administration and dubbed by inmates "the Alcatraz of the piney woods," was not in full operation and that guard personnel had not been completed. The prison was regarded as virtually "escape proof."

Among those attempting to gain freedom was E. J. "Slim" Scarborough, one of Georgia's most notorious chain gang breakers. The others were all "short-termers," prison officials said.

Scarborough is serving a life sentence for the high-kill slaying of W. C. Wright, Putnam county school superintendent, in 1925. Wright gave Scarborough and two other men, T. L. Connershall of Clayton, Ill., and F. W. McClelland of Ocala, Fla., a ride in his automobile. He was found murdered. Scarborough's companions were executed but he received a life sentence for turning state's evidence.

The six men, all white, sawed two bars in the prison run-around. One of the bars was used to spring a trap door in the roof and they lowered themselves to the ground with ropes made of blankets. Guards opened fire.

Three convicts including Scarborough, fled over the wire fence surrounding the prison. Three others were captured in the yard. None was wounded.

Scarborough and his two companions later were captured about 10 miles from the prison after being trailed with bloodhounds.

HEADS DIVISION

Howard J. Van Ooyen of Appleton Has Assumed Leadership of the National Fourth Division Veterans' Association Following an Election Yesterday at the American Legion Convention at New York

Howard J. Van Ooyen, 929 W. Commercial street, was named president of the National Fourth Division Veterans' association at the national convention of the American Legion yesterday in New York City.

He was formerly a national vice president of the organization and was first president of the state association organized here in 1934 which held its fourth convention here earlier this month.

The Fourth division was a regular army outfit organized in Charlotte, N. C., in 1917 which participated in the Aisne-Marne campaign, St. Michel, Meuse-Argonne, Champagne-Lorraine, and was one of the nine divisions selected for the Army of Occupation.

Van Ooyen was a member of Company B, Eleventh Machine Gun Battalion and was a first sergeant at the end of the war. Employed by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, he is supply sergeant of Company D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard. He is not attending the Legion Convention in New York.

Dozen Villages Captured

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Border — (AP)—Fresh advances east and south of Gijon, Spain, were reported today by an insurgent communist group which announced capture of another dozen villages.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Navarrese column pushed forward in the eastern sector, the high command said, without much resistance from the asturian defenders of the Republican government's last important Biscayan port.

North of Pajares, in the southern sector, the fighting centered around Mount El Gato which the insurgents said was under their control with other nearby peaks encircled. Pajares is 32 air miles from Gijon.

Nine Cows Die From Poisoning; Believe Corn Was the Cause

Sugar Bush—Nine dairy cows owned by Reinhold Steingraber, town of Little Wolf farmer, died early this week, presumably from eating poisoned corn.

According to Steingraber, the cows broke through a fence and got into a corn field Thursday night and on Sunday showed symptoms of paralysis.

A veterinarian who was called to the farm advanced the belief that the corn, which had been planted late this year and then retarded by lack of rain, was cause of the poisoning. Steingraber valued the cows at $250.

Italy Sees Victory For Mussolini in Anti-Piracy Pact

People Interpret Agreement as Triumph Over Anglo-French Front

Rome—(U)—Italians today hailed the impending Italian-British-French anti-piracy conference as a sign that Premier Mussolini's demand for Mediterranean parity had been met and they jubilantly chalked up another diplomatic victory for it due.

Responsible sources said they believed assurances regarding Italy's Mediterranean position, given to the British and French charges d'affaires here by Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano, had overcome the big obstacle to an "effective" piracy control agreement.

These sources indicated a belief political differences could be thrashed out successfully when spokesmen of the three powers met together soon in Paris, but to Italians at large it was already a victory over the Anglo-French diplomatic front.

The influence of Italo-German collaboration came in for its share of credit in press comment on this new approach to international efforts to drive pirate submarines, planes and warcraft from Mediterranean shipping lanes.

Both Italy and Germany, Europe's major fascist states, stayed away from the Nyon, Switzerland, conference in which nine nations, led by France and Britain, assigned the armed might of Paris and London to keep a vigil over the main sea lanes.

Italian Demands

Italy was offered the unimportant Tyrrhenian sea as a patrol zone and Germany was offered nothing. Italy rejected the offer and demanded patrol parity with France and Britain—in keeping, Italy said, with her interests in the Mediterranean.

Today's press comment on Italo-German collaboration was linked with the government announcement of Mussolini's departure to Berlin Friday on a visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Italian fascists also congratulated themselves that communist Russia had been eliminated from the forthcoming conference of naval experts at Paris.

A communique yesterday by Foreign Minister Ciano disclosed that the French and British governments had invited Italy to the meeting.

Days of diplomatic stalemate had passed with both Britain and France represented as solidly opposed to any Italian patrol beyond the narrow one outlined by the Nyon pact, while they concentrated a warship fleet, to number about 150, virtually ringing Italy.

Charles Wright Heads School Stamp Society

Charles Wright was elected president of the Appleton High School Philatelic society at a meeting of the group held Monday at the school.

Hubert Wettengel was named vice president of the society. Other officers will be elected at a meeting to be held late this week.

Bruce Grossman will be club auctioneer this year and members expect to establish a stamp trading post where exchanges may be made.

The society is comprised of 75 members and about 10 more will be added. The first meeting of the new group will be held during the first week of October.

Edwin Radtke, faculty advisor, said today that educational value of stamp collecting will be stressed this year. He said that the collector's knowledge of the geography of the world is materially increased through the practice of the stamp hobby.

Farm Purchasing Power Increases

Now Reaches Level Existing Just Before Depression, Federal Report

Washington—The purchasing power of farmers this year has climbed to the level held just before the depression, federal economists reported today.

They rated the 1937 farm buying power at 107 per cent compared with an average of 100 for the 1929-30 period. The 1934 per cent for 1929 was the highest farm purchasing power in 14 years.

This year's rating, the economists said, is made on the theory that the important factor of income is not how many dollars are taken in, but what these dollars will buy.

Cash farm income for 1937 is estimated at $9,000,000,000 from marketing of cotton, wheat, corn, livestock and other crops plus government payments of about $450,000,000.

This is considerably below the $10,472,000,000 income in 1929 and an average of more than $10,000,000,000 for the 1924-29 era.

Offsetting this, the economists said, is a lower level of prices of farm products which the farmer buys. They estimated this at 14 per cent below pre-depression levels.

Attainment of the pre-depression purchasing level is not a particularly favorable sign, said C. M. Purves of the bureau of agricultural economics. He noted the 1920's were not relatively prosperous for farmers.

The economists said the pre-depression period was marked by declining land values, a burdensome mortgage debt, high taxes and lower prices of farm products relative to other commodities. This year's income, he added, must be spread out over a larger number of people because more persons are now living on farms than in the 1920's.

TREAD FIFTH AVENUE AGAIN

Marching 100,000 strong, ex-doughboys are shown here swinging down Fifth Avenue in New York as they paraded past lanes of an estimated 1,000,000 spectators. The procession lasted almost eighteen hours, climaxing the 19th annual convention of the American Legion. This picture was taken from the sixth floor of the Empire State building.

New Traffic Lights Guard Crossing of Highways 55 and 10

Installation of traffic lights at the intersection of Highways 55 and 10 in Calumet county was completed this week, according to Ray Jensen, Calumet county highway commissioner. The lights which operate on pads in the highway were secured through the efforts of the Calumet county board of supervisors' safety council after numerous complaints had been received from service clubs and chambers of commerce in nearby cities. The lights change from red to green as a car passes over a pad on the right traffic lane on the highway.

Jensen said the safety council worked to get the lights after a survey showed there had been five fatalities at the crossing in the last four years, and a number of people had been injured in minor accidents. Previously there had been arterial stop signs on the Highway 55 approaches to 10. This failed to safeguard the crossing, Jensen explained.

Drunken Driver Is Fined $100, Costs Clintonville Man Also Must Pay Damages Caused In Collision

Clintonville—Orrie Lindow, who resides on route 2, near this city, pleaded guilty before Justice E. E. Larson Monday to a charge of driving while drunk and was fined $100 and costs. Lindow was arrested by Clintonville police about 9 o'clock Sunday evening when his car collided with the car of John Mullarkey at the corner of Tenth and S. Main streets.

Lindow also was ordered to pay for the damages to the Mullarkey car. At the time of the accident, Mr. Mullarkey was leaving for San Francisco, Calif., where he is a representative of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company of this city. With Mr. Lindow were his wife and a 2-year-old son, who received minor bruises in the collision, while a 2-month-old baby in Mrs. Lindow's arms was not injured.

Rohan Wants Lights at Route 41 Rail Crossings

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Assemblyman William Rohan, Kaukauna, of the second Outagamie county district, said here yesterday that he has asked the public service commission and state highway officials for the installation of light signals at all road intersections with the Chicago and North Western railroad from Little Chute to McCarthy's crossing, north of Kaukauna, and at all intersections of trunk highways, county and town roads with the new superhighway 41.

The assemblyman declared that inadequate warning signals along the new highway and along the railroad are a menace to the lives of motorists. He will also ask the public service commission to order installation of a safety gate at the Northwestern depot at Kaukauna, he said.

Governor's Road Safety Program Runs Into Snag

Legislators Don't Like Idea Of Spending $1,250,000 to Save Lives

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—That Governor LaFollette's highway safety program, now before the legislature with a request for a $1,250,000 appropriation for the current biennium, is going to encounter considerable opposition in both houses was apparent here this week.

It is almost certain that legislators will insist that the safety proposal be considered as a separate piece of legislation, and to judge from the grumbling in all parties yesterday, the administration will have to call upon all its resources to enact it into law. It is now a rider to the relief bill.

Two Green Bay legislators yesterday, Senator Michael F. Kresky, Progressive, and Assemblyman Harold A. Lytle, Democrat, declared that they will not support the measure as it is now drafted, and indicated that they will seek amendments to reduce the size of the appropriation request and to use the balance in expanded road building and maintenance, particularly in the Fox river valley area.

Explaining the bill earlier this week, Chairman Thomas Davlin of the state highway commission said that the appropriation asked for would be merely a transfer of highway funds which now represent a surplus above specific appropriations, a surplus which this year will amount to approximately $2,500,000.

Commenting on this Lytle declared "that extra money could be spent in many better ways. Recent show that the Fox river valley has a high number of highway accidents, and I think it is due to the lack of improvement of those highways."

"Besides," Lytle went on, "if they have so much money that they don't know what to do with it we should cut taxes."

Kresky declared that it is impossible "to legislate safety consciousness into the minds of motorists," and that the county safety council now working under the industrial commission are doing an excellent job.

Continued improvement, new construction, and maintenance of state highways would be a more profitable investment than the governor's proposed huge safety promotion campaign, he said.

According to Mr. Davlin, the program contemplates the employment of a corps of 75 "traffic inspectors or supervisors" who are careful to avoid the term "state police"—who would be located in every county in the state, to work with the schools, civic groups and others in a gigantic safety educational drive.

Blames Lewis for Lack of Harmony In Labor Groups

consin Federation yesterday that John L. Lewis alone is preventing establishment of cordial relations between the A. F. of L. and the CIO.

Charging the CIO head fought against all attempts to prevent the original split, Schoenberg said Lewis, in recent months, has refused to follow instructions of CIO leaders to name a committee which would attempt to settle the CIO-A. F. of L. controversy.

He called Lewis "king, czar, kaiser, and autocrat," and said Lewis is "not for you or your movement but for John L. first, last and all the time."

Schoenberg said the convention should not be afraid of Lewis. "We've seen isms come and go," he said, "but the A. F. of L. has stood and will continue to stand and march steadily on."

Against Lewis' Plan

The speaker said his experiences in the European labor movement inclined him to favor organization along industrial lines, "but not the Lewis type of industrial organization."

Green, in telegraphed greetings to the delegates, declared "we will resist every attempt made by subversive forces to impose upon the organized labor movement of America an imported philosophy designed to substitute dictatorship and autocracy for democratic rule, individual and collective freedom, and for the right to establish and maintain trade unions founded upon principles of individual democracy."

Harry Jack, president of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool, rallied upon the W. F. L. to cooperate with the farmer. He said labor cannot benefit at the farmers' expense and the farmer needs labor's aid. With cooperation both can better conditions, Jack said.

Sees More Rural Lines

Olaf Johnson, Madison, rural electrification engineer, predicted construction of more rural electrification lines in Wisconsin was in the offing unless utilities display a greater spirit of cooperation.

Plans for workers' study course in various cities this winter were outlined to the meeting by Prof. Ernest Schwartztraubert, director of the University of Wisconsin Extension division school for workers.

The Milwaukee Municipal Drivers' union drew a resolution urging the W. F. L. executive board draft legislation bringing employees of the state and subdivisions under provisions of the state labor relations act.

Bids for next year's convention were entered by Superior and Madison.

In earlier sessions the convention denied seats as delegates to Dalton Johnson, Kenosha, and Richard Huffman, Madison. Johnson was charged with subversive activity, and Huffman, with CIO activity.

The credentials committee failed to approve the credentials of Emil Costello, chairman of the state CIO, Frank Podella, and Archie Bridges, all of Kenosha and all members of the Simmons company union, whose charter was suspended by the A. F. of L. last week.

Charm 'Students' Are Given Lesson In Posture, Grace

Chamber of Commerce, was hostess for the evening and introduced Miss Serree. Horace Davis, Jr., acted as master of ceremonies.

Wears Taffeta Gown

Following her own advice that a woman's clothes should achieve a dramatic effect, Miss Serree wore a rustling black taffeta gown last night, fashionable in its low V neckline and elegance.

Stressing the importance of posture, Miss Serree pointed out that the way a woman stood or sat frequently gave a false impression of what she really was. She warned her listeners not to let an ungraceful bearing come between them and their social and business achievements.

"Gymnastic posture and grace," she declared, "are not synonymous. Gymnastic posture is good body training, but grace and beauty are never a straight line. Your body must have ease and a rounded line for grace."

The center of interest in graceful good posture, she explained, is not the shoulders, but the middle part of the torso, the distance between the hip bone and the first rib, and here really should be considerable distance, she said. Graceful posture differs from gymnastic posture also in that the weight is shifted from foot to foot, rather than that it be squarely on both feet at the same time, as the gym teachers preach. Miss Serree went on.

Keep Body Compact

Another primary law of good posture, she said, is to keep the body compact at all times. Keep your feet together, she advised, and your arms fairly close to the body.

One of the more weighty posture problems, how to get in and out of a chair without folding up like a jack-knife, was also dealt with.

"The body should be kept erect," Miss Serree advised. "Place your weight on the right foot and put your left foot behind the right. Then perform something like an old-fashioned curtsy as you sit down. To get up cross your right leg over your left, with the weight, naturally, on the left foot. When you stand the weight shifts to the right foot. Never push yourself out of a chair, and in seated posture, one should always be part of the chair."

A lady of charm may cross her legs, but she crosses them high on the thigh, and she may lay her arm on the back of a chair, Miss Serree said.

How To Walk

As for walking posture, she continued, there should never be the suggestion of hurry. A lady never hurries, she said, and she is never flustered or jerky in her movements. Although she is no advocate

Local Communities to Stand Most of Cost of Counting Unemployed

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington—You'll soon be hearing a lot about the forthcoming "census" of the unemployed, but you'll need a compass to work your way through the maze of technical pros and cons.

Here are three big points to keep in mind:

1. The count will not be a census in the commonly accepted meaning of that word. It will be, rather an official registration of the citizens who want or are willing to classify themselves as unemployed.

2. The poll will mark the first experiment by the United States government in this kind of census-taking.

3. The so-called census is an excellent example of how the voice of the American public can make itself heard between national elections.

For it was a recurring public outcry that brought both parties into the open on the question of an unemployment census. So widely varying were the estimates of unemployment that people began to wonder, and ask, why the federal government didn't find out how many people actually were unemployed. Newspaper editorials on this subject were appearing at the rate of five or six a week last January. By the time the leaves were budding, the rate was 50 a week.

A Blank Check

Last spring young Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Republican senator from Massachusetts, slipped an amendment into the annual relief bill providing for a complete census of the unemployed by the census bureau. Without warning, he called for a vote and got it.

Bells, sergeants-at-arms and senatorial secretaries startled the Potomac countryside immediately with an emergency call to the Democratic faithful. Breathless senators reached their seats in time to turn aside Mr. Lodge and his amendment, 46 to 30. After all, a Democratic administration shouldn't let Republicans get the popular end of public questions.

The Democratic leadership then got busy and framed a bill giving the President a blank check and unlimited power to take almost any kind of unemployment count that appealed to him. The measure slid through like greased lightning.

The President's Problem

The President had to keep in mind the fact that a complete census of trained census bureau men would cost $25,000,000—a sum that would put a big dent in his budget for 1938. Moreover, the regular census will answer all employment questions within a scant two years, in 1940.

A compromise was Mr. Roosevelt's obvious out. First, he decided to limit the cost so far as the federal government is concerned to $4,000,000. Then he figured out a tentative plan to have the states, counties, and towns set up election machinery for an "employment census day" late this year and presumably bear the cost themselves. (Election machinery usually costs about a dollar a vote.)

A Caggy Appointment

That little trick will leave the federal government free to spend $4,000,000 for:

1—A poll by extra rural mail carriers in county districts;

2—A recheck of the 5,000,000 persons listed with the federal employment service;

3—Elimination in the returns of 1,500,000 persons now receiving relief, and their relatives; and

4—The huge accounting job required to keep the totals from getting diluted or clipped off by book-keeping accidents.

Then the President promptly put political critics at a disadvantage by inviting a Toledo, O., Republican to administer the "census." He is John Bligiers, a successful business executive. To avoid other snipers, the President insisted the tally must be voluntary and therefore possessed of no powers to "brand" citizens. (That voluntary provision makes the tally resemble a straw vote.)

It Has Its Faults

A critic would find himself in possession of a lot of arguing material by charging that any census of the unemployed is a negative, and therefore, relatively pointless thing. For instance, if the medical profession wanted information about tooth-brushing, it would not ask how many people do not brush their teeth. The question would be, "Do you wash your teeth?" Similarly in a normal census the question would be, "Are you employed?"

Admittedly the scheme is not perfect, but it is quite possible that the states, cities, and the federal government will get a good $4,000,000 worth of information about unemployment.

Certificates of Nurseries Must Be Renewed Soon

Arrangement for Inspections Must Be Made Immediately, Agent Says

Wisconsin nurserymen must renew their nursery inspection certificates before Oct. 1, E. L. Chambers, state entomologist of the department of agriculture and markets, has informed R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural agent. Anyone offering nursery stock for sale should make immediate arrangements for its inspection and certification if they wish to have the inspections made in the regular routes covered by department inspectors for the last time now, Swanson advised.

Raspberry plants require two inspections during the growing season at 30-day intervals in order to rogue them free from certain virus diseases which affect them and prevent certification of the plants unless the first inspection has been made early in August. Early frosts make the second inspection impossible since these virus diseases manifest themselves in the foliage and are masked by frost injury, according to Chambers.

Nurseries that made application for inspection previous to June 1 are receiving the service at the cost of the certificate, Chambers explained, but applicants who filed after June 1 must pay the extra expenses for the inspector's travel out of their regular routes.

According to law condition of sale and movement of all trees and shrubs must be inspected. Anyone failing to have new certificates after their expiration on Oct. 1 will be violating the law by selling or moving trees or shrubbery. The purpose of the inspection is to prevent the spread of various insect pests and diseases, Chambers concluded, and the cost of a certificate is $5 for the first acre or fraction thereof.

Jimmy's Income Is Still Live Issue, Pagler Says

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Morrison Shaffroth, the chief counsel of the bureau of internal revenue, and Russell J. Ryan, his assistant, have quit their jobs because they refused to identify individuals in the recent congressional investigation of income tax avoidance and evasion.

When President Roosevelt introduced the subject he impugned the morals and ethics of all those whose returns were to be taken up as horrible examples, but the examination showed that a number of those persons who happened to be opposed to Mr. Roosevelt in various matters were innocent of either avoidance or evasion and had fully complied with the law. In fact, some of them had been guided by the advice of the bureau of internal revenue, itself, but the injury was personal nevertheless and even those who fully vindicated themselves were left under a cloud.

It was not the first time that income tax had been used for political intimidation or reprisal, after the manner of Huey Long in Louisiana, nor is it likely to be the last time although the treasury recently found it advisable to order that there be no persecution of individuals in the adjustment of disputed tax matters.

Incidentally, the investigation provided occasion for mention of the fact that the treasury is no slouch when it comes to dirty tricks having the color of legality, but has often shown about the same grade of morals and ethics that the president imputed to the whipping boys.

Shaffroth and Ryan apparently wanted to run the investigation strictly as an attempt to impose the tax law but were overruled and so, quit. However, the administration chose to personalize the inquiry and therefore will face in the next session of congress a demand for a full statement of the amount and sources of the income of the president's son and secretary, Jimmy, the prosperous young Massachusetts insurance man and politician.

Matter Has Been Put Up to The Committee. It is no secret that although the president takes pleasure in naming names and personalizing issues with other men, even to the extent of challenging their morals and ethics, he resents similar treatment of members of his family. Nevertheless, the subject of Jimmy's income, its sources and the manner in which it was derived, has been definitely put up to the committee which investigated and named others.

It is still a live issue. If the investigation has followed the advice of Shaffroth and Ryan this situation would not have been developed, but the treasury has put Jimmy on the spot by its policy of naming individuals and giving great publicity to their affairs.

Congressman Treadway, of Massachusetts, a Republican, who said he asked Jimmy some questions but was choked off, stated in the record that he had reports from trustworthy sources that Jimmy had a very large income from the sale of various kinds of insurance to corporations, the officers of which were anxious to be in the good graces of the administration.

Jimmy's returns were offered for inspection, but Mr. Treadway said that when he asked to have them examined by an impartial expert the committee refused.

"Anyone who has ever had any experience with tax returns knows that it takes an expert to make anything out of them," Mr. Treadway said. "Especially when many supplementary papers are filed in the explanation of various items."

As matters stand the son and secretary of the president has received the same sort of challenge that Mr. Roosevelt presented to other individuals, but has received special protection from the committee in its refusal to permit expert analysis of his returns. If it were true that he made large profits from business with companies whose officers were anxious to be in the good graces of the administration the impropriety of appointing the same young man to a confidential and strongly influential job in the White House would be just as obvious.

The matter of evasion or avoidance is unimportant in this case as it was in certain other cases to which great publicity was given. In certain other cases there was neither avoidance nor evasion and the whole effect and apparently the sole purpose was to disclose other men's affairs and place them under false suspicion. Unless it is insisted that the presidential family has a right to special privileges Jimmy's business records deserve the same publicity. Up to now it would seem that special privilege is desired.

Worcester Given Honorary Degree In Chapel Service

Lawrence President Confers Award on Chicago Art Leader

President Thomas N. Barrows of Lawrence college bestowed the honorary degree of Doctor of Fine Arts upon Charles Henry Worcester, vice president of the Art Institute of Chicago, in a ceremony conducted before members of the student body and a crowd of townspeople in the Memorial chapel this morning.

The occasion was the beginning of the ninety-first matriculation week at the college. Simultaneously, an art exhibit containing 50 paintings, 37 of them American and 13 foreign, opened in the Alexander gymnasium for two weeks. It is the finest collection of paintings ever shown in this vicinity.

In presenting Worcester with the honorary degree, President Barrows said: "Because as scientist, manufacturer, and organizer, you have attained high recognition in the business world, because as an artist, patron of the fine arts, and good citizen you have widened the horizon for your neighbors; because you brought to the Chicago World's Fair the finest collection of old world art ever exhibited in this country, but particularly because in the order of your own living you exemplify the balanced ideal of the liberal education, we delight to honor you and by the authority vested in me I confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts, honoris causa, and admit you to all its rights and privileges."

Following the ceremony, Charles Fabens Kelley, assistant director of the Chicago institute, spoke on art appreciation. Declaring that most people are ashamed to evince an interest in art and are confused and frightened by it, he explained fundamental principles which will aid in its appreciation.

It is only way to get anything out of art is to treat it as a necessity," he said.

Too many people try to hurry through exhibits, when the appreciation of paintings demands thoughtful deliberation. Kelley declared in warning against "art on the run."

He commended Lawrence college for its interest in art and advised persons visiting the exhibit in the Alexander gymnasium "not to stay too long the first time but make several short trips."

"Look at only the things you like best first," he said. "Enjoy the privilege of making up your own mind, an opportunity given by any well balanced exhibit. Look at color apart from the painting itself and think of the artist's sincerity."

Hold Inquest Thursday In Death of Wold Child

An inquest into the death of Kenneth Wold, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wold, route 3, Appleton, who died of a broken neck suffered when he was involved in an accident with an automobile driven by Gustav Krueger, 713 S. Oneida street, will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at city hall. The accident occurred about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon on County Trunk E near Apple Creek.

Officers Will Speak At Reserve Meeting

Five officers who attended summer camp will speak at the meeting of Appleton chapter of the Reserve Officers' association at Hotel Appleton tonight. A 6:30 dinner will precede the meeting.

Speakers at tonight's meeting will be Major Thomas G. Poland, Green Bay; Major A. M. Mison, Green Bay; Captain P. Schroeder, Captain R. and E. Dohr, and Lieutenant Gordon McIntyre, Appleton. The meeting will be the first this fall.

Peshigo and Escanaba Men Killed in Crash

Escanaba, Mich. — A — Emmet Blaney, 55, of Peshigo, Wis., and T. F. Lynch of Escanaba, were killed last night when their automobile crashed into a barn parked along U. S. Highway 2 near here.

H. J. STANSBURY DIES
Baltimore — Henry J. Stansbury, 62, one-time general manager of Universal, died yesterday in a suburban sanatorium after an illness of two years. Stansbury, who retired in 1932, was in newspaper work for 40 years.

REDEDICATE MT. RUSHMORE MEMORIAL

A gigantic likeness of Abraham Lincoln (right) carved on the side of Mount Rushmore near Rapid City, S. Theodore Roosevelt's image will complete the group.

Bang's Disease Test To Start Next Week In Portage County

Madison — The Bang's disease eradication program approved by the 1937 legislature will start next week in Portage county. Dr. Walter Wisnicky announced today.

The state veterinarian and Dr. J. S. Healy of the federal bureau of animal husbandry planned to go to Stevens Point today to confer with Harry Noble, county agricultural agent, on final arrangements.

Portage is the only county now qualified for the joint federal and state test. The eradication law requires approval of 75 per cent of the cattle owners before inspections are made.

"Farmers in more than a dozen counties are voting to decide whether they want the tests," Dr. Wisnicky said. "At least two or three more counties probably will have qualified before the end of the year."

In Portage county, he added, approximately 60 per cent of the herds have been tested recently for Bang's disease and the probability is that a small percentage of reactors will be found.

The state pays an indemnity not to exceed $20 a head for condemned purebred and grade animals, while the federal government contributes upward of $25 for grade and $50 for purebred animals. In addition the owners receive the market salvage value, a sum that averaged $37.73 a head during August, Dr. Wisnicky said.

Appleton Man Seeks $7,500 to Compensate Auto Crash Injuries

Testimony was being taken today in circuit court before Judge Edgar V. Werner in a suit for $7,500 damages brought by Max Schaub, 415 E. Randall street, Appleton, against Bernard Martin, Berlin; George M. McElroy, Kimberly; Dovey Watson, Ulin, Minn., and the Employers Mutual Indemnity corporation of Wausau. The suit grew out of an automobile accident Dec. 15, 1935, on Highway 10 two miles west of Fremont.

Schaub was a passenger in a car driven by McElroy and owned by Arthur Hopfensperger of Kimberly. The car was involved in an accident with a machine owned by Martin and being operated by Dovey Watson.

The jury went to the scene of the accident this morning to view the premises and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon when the court readjusted to hear the remaining testimony.

General Weather
During the last 24 hours scattered showers occurred over the lower Lake region, the middle Atlantic states, the northern Rocky mountain region and the southern plains states. Fair weather prevailed over all other sections of the country.

Temperatures are higher this morning over the upper Lake region and the upper and middle Mississippi valley, while it is somewhat cooler over the northern Rocky mountain region. There was little change in temperature over the remaining sections of the country.

Fair weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with rising temperature.

Cooperatives to Meet Tonight and Thursday

Center Valley Cooperative association will meet tonight for a discussion of the year's business and will plan for next year. The Center Valley group has 1,150 members. Nichols Cooperative association will hold a harvest festival Thursday, concluding with a dance at Fraser hall in the evening.

HEADS REBEKAH GROUT
Milwaukee — (U) — Mrs. Mary E. Dahlgren, Minneapolis, was elected president of the Association of Rebekah Assemblies, an auxiliary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, at a convention meeting here yesterday.

G. O. P. Executive Committee Will Meet Tomorrow

Mid-Term Conference to Be Considered at National Capital

Washington — (U) — The Republican party geared its national machinery almost to mid-campaign speed today for the congressional elections of 1938—still more than a year away.

The executive committee of the party will meet tomorrow to discuss holding a mid-term convention or conference. A final decision probably will be made at an extraordinary session of the full national committee later in the fall.

Chairman Hamilton disclosed that long before such a meeting had been proposed by former President Hoover, he himself had made a similar suggestion at a meeting of the executive committee last spring. The group referred the subject, he said, to the next meeting of the national committee.

Starts Conferences
Already active in rebuilding the Republican machine, Hamilton is trying to get in contact with as many party workers as possible during the next few months. He started yesterday by conferring with the Republican leaders of eight large cities, where one-time Republican majorities have turned Democratic.

He will confer on Monday with leaders in the young Republican movement preliminary to a larger conference later. On Sept. 30, he plans a meeting with state finance chairmen.

Either before or after the special mid-term national committee, the chairman contemplates a tour of the nation to talk with party workers in every region.

Openly forecasting a "substantial" gain for the Republicans in next year's elections, Hamilton is hoping for a swing that once more will give his party a majority in the house.

Youthful Committee
Retirement of Charles D. Hilles, veteran national committeeman from New York, leaves Hamilton with a comparatively new and youthful committee for the coming campaign.

Hamilton, who is 45, heads a committee composed of members elected in 1924 or later except for Ralph E. Williams of Oregon and Edward F. Collady of the District of Columbia.

Aside from these two men, Hilles' departure cleaned out the "old guard" group which conducted the Harding campaign of 1920. Gone already were such veterans as J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, Coleman DuPont of Delaware, D. W. Hulvane of Kansas, Hamilton F. Keane of New Jersey, Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania and C. Bascom Slomp of Virginia.

Comparative old-timers at tomorrow's executive committee meeting will include Williams, Daniel E. Pomeroy of New Jersey, Walter S. Hallahan of West Virginia, J. Will Taylor of Tennessee, and R. B. Creager of Texas.

Dale Potato Growers Want New Strong Seed

Dale potato growers approved a program of introducing a new seed from a northern strain to end the toll of yellow dwarf at a meeting Monday night at Dale and instructed the county agricultural committee to seek the new seed near Antigo or Oconto. R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural adjustment agent, and John Botten-sack, chairman of the agricultural committee, will lead the party on a tour of northern farms late this week or early next week.

Only a few voted on the potato control program, but a large number were interested in the new seed. It was pointed out that 75 per cent of the Dale potato farms experienced considerable loss due to yellow dwarf and it was shown that some of the farms harvested from 15 to 75 per cent of their crops, while in some places the entire field was plowed under.

Sentence Neenah Man On Charge of Sodomy

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh — Wayne Cundy, Neenah, was convicted this morning in municipal court of sodomy and was sentenced to 4 to 5 years in state prison by Judge D. E. McDonald. The sentence set by the court was the maximum under the statute. In passing sentence Judge McDonald held the defendant "guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

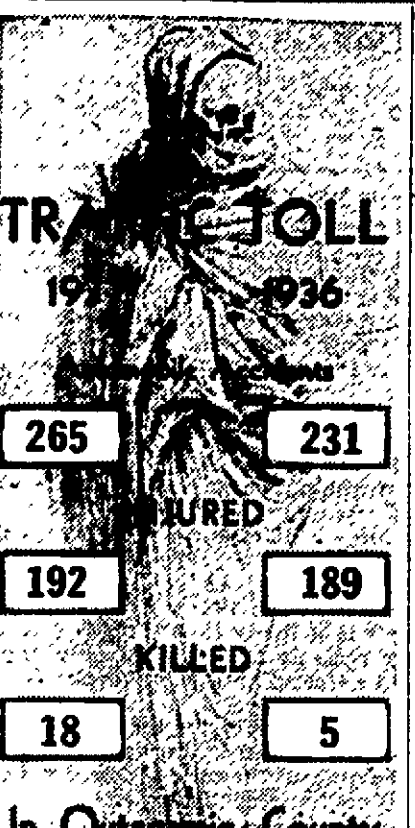

Cundy was arrested by Neenah police and turned over to county authorities charged with committing the offense July 11 and involving several Neenah youths. He waived the jury and Judge Hughes called in Judge McDonald to hear the case. Lewis C. Macnussen, district attorney, called several Neenah youths and three Neenah policemen, Henry Vander Heiden, Roy Casperson and Howard Thornton, as state witnesses. L. O. Cooke, attorney for Cundy, called no witnesses other than the defendant.

Two Men Plead Guilty To Statutory Charges

New London — Fred Revor, 23, route 2, Shiocton, and E. L. McAndrew, 43, New London, were arraigned in police court here Tuesday afternoon on a charge of statutory rape and were bound over to the circuit court for sentence. They pleaded guilty to the charge Tuesday afternoon and McAndrew pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea here this morning. The men were arrested by Sheriff Duncan Campbell.

CHARGE NON-SUPPORT

David Cleveland, Appleton, was arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge Thomas H. Ryan on a charge of non-support brought by his wife, Elizabeth Cleveland, and the case was adjourned to 9 o'clock Saturday morning, Oct. 2. Cleveland was released upon furnishing $200 bond.

Appleton Man Elected 5th Vice President at Manitowoc

Walter Bergman of Appleton was elected fifth vice president of the Wisconsin Journeymen Barbers' association at its closing convention session yesterday in Manitowoc.

Officers reelected were John A. Billie, Manitowoc, president; S. R. Foshaag, Neenah, first vice president; Emil Herman, Milwaukee, third vice president; F. E. Campbell, Madison, fourth vice president; Fritz Haefner, Wisconsin Rapids, secretary-treasurer.

Ed Jablonske of Stevens Point was named new second vice president.

Faculty Sponsors for Girls' Group are Named

Miss Sophia Nicolazzo, Miss Marcella Buesing and Miss Margaret Goggins were chosen faculty sponsors of the Girls' Athletic association of Appleton High school at a meeting held Thursday.

Members of the association were urged to sign up for field hockey, golf and tennis tournaments which are under way at the school. Sophomores are required to get their points in by Oct. 30.

The group also selected hike leaders including Pat Byrne, Grace Heller, Mary Ann Holzer, Rose Mary Loose, Marion Lutz, Mary Keller, Edna Murdock, Ruth Mewald, Irene Retza, Florence Stadler, Sarah Stevens and Gladys Zwicker.

3 Utilities Authorized To Build Farm Lines

Madison — (U) — Construction of farm electric lines by three utilities in Manitowoc, Kewaunee, Lincoln, Buffalo and Iowa counties was authorized today by the public service commission after rural cooperative waived objections.

The Wisconsin Public Service corporation will build lines in the towns of Franklin and Carlton, Kewaunee county; Liberty and Newton, Manitowoc county, and the town of Pine River, Lincoln county.

The Wisconsin Power and Light company will extend lines in the town of Linden, Iowa county.

Following negotiation with the Trempealeau Electric cooperative, the Mississippi Valley Public Service company was authorized to build lines near Marshland, Buffalo county, an area from which the cooperative has withdrawn.

Directed Verdict Ends Manslaughter Charge

Eau Claire, Wis. — (U) — Circuit Judge James Wickham yesterday ended the trial of Joseph Schaefer, 42, Seymour township, charged with manslaughter in connection with a traffic death, by granting a defense motion for a directed verdict for acquittal.

Schaefer was charged in connection with the death of Rose Sinder, 23, of Seymour township, who was struck the night of April 30 as she walked along the highway. She died in a hospital here May 4 of pneumonia, which the state charged developed as a result of her injuries.

Japanese Planes Rain Bombs Upon Chinese Capital

and plunged to earth as though by command. Streaming flames marked their meteor-like dive.

More Planes Appear
Their bombs dropped, the Japanese planes disappeared to the north but almost immediately another equally large number swooped down from the northwest and concentrated their bombs on Nanking's famous drum tower residential area.

The recurrent explosions of bombs and the sharp crack of anti-aircraft shells rocked the city.

Despite the air raids, United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and his staff returned tonight to the embassy from the American patrol boat, Luzon, aboard which they had taken refuge since Tuesday.

Johnson indicated he is ready to remain at the capital, notwithstanding today's air raids. Chinese officials expressed extreme gratification, and Americans here assumed the ambassador had received instructions to return from Washington.

The American embassy barely escaped damage today. One Chinese shell, aimed at the raiding warplanes, blasted a gaping hole nearby. Shell fragments spattered sickeningly against the gate house of the embassy compound.

Drop Over 100 Bombs
Although more than 100 bombs were dropped, the loss of life and damage to property was relatively small. Many of the projectiles were 500-pound demolition bombs which gouged great craters in the new residential district.

Japanese bombs aimed at the headquarters of the Kuomintang—the dominant political party—destroyed only a small hotel nearby; other bombs missed the ministry of the interior and the local garrison headquarters entirely and destroyed only a Chinese pawnshop.

Cashman Gets 2 Chances To Talk on Constitution

Madison — Senator John E. Cashman, veteran Denmark Progressive, was in high spirits Monday and today.

The reason is that Cashman is regarded in legislative circles as an historical scholar and an expert on the federal constitution. And Monday, and again today, he was given opportunities to speak on his favorite subjects, colonial American history, and the creation of the constitution.

At the senate session Monday, when members after the chaplain's prayer found nothing on their calendar of business which demanded attention, Cashman was asked to report on his trip, with four other members, to the sesquicentennial celebration of the constitution at Philadelphia last week. He obliged with a lengthy and eloquent narrative, which covered the high points of historical interest in the celebration.

Today he was invited to speak on "The American Constitution" on a state radio program over WHA, state owned radio station.

Meal Planning to Be Topic of Class

Correct Balance in Menus
Will be Taught at Vocational School

Liver and bacon, ham and eggs, baked beans on Saturday night—these are some of the traditional items in the planning of meals practiced in the past, but the matter of balance in preparation of foods is becoming increasingly more significant. Miss Mabel Burke, director of the homemaking division of the Vocational school, points out, and is growing in complexity. Now, instead of merely combining foods that taste well together, housewives must know whether their meals contain the right amount of vitamin and minerals, aren't too heavy in carbohydrates and proteins, or lacking in sugar. In addition, the appearance and taste of food together is important. A class in meal planning and budgeting will be given in the homemaking division of the vocational school this fall in which the selection of attractive, well balanced menus will be stressed. Registrations for night school will be held next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Approximately 110,000 American soldiers and sailors died in the World war.

A NUT TO CRACK THEIR TEETH

Governor LaFollette appears of the opinion that because he may designate "the special purposes" for which this session of the legislature is called he may not only limit that body to the consideration of such a subject as relief but further limit it by designating only one method of raising the money for relief.

It is quite likely the legislature will construe the constitution as authorizing the governor to limit the special purpose to relief but containing no term justifying him in directing the legislature to provide that relief only through one channel.

To say the most for the governor the language of the constitution might reasonably be construed by careful and impartial people one way or the other.

We are not presently arguing the correctness of the governor's proposed 30 per cent surtax on inheritances. We may even assume that his plan is the best available one. But the question is who has the right to determine the correct plan, in the first instance, the governor or the legislature.

Suppose the legislature determines that although the governor may limit the session to relief it has the right to raise the money in any way it sees fit. And suppose it passed a law raising the additional millions by an income tax instead of an inheritance tax, and even over-rode the governor's veto of its measure. Where would we be? Would we have a law? And if so what law?

What would we do if the income taxing authorities laid the additional burden upon the taxpayer while the governor asserted the legislature only had the right to pass a law putting a surtax on inheritances?

Here, of course, all people should see how indispensable the supreme court is, how necessary becomes its function and how wholly honest is its purpose.

Someone of authority, character, dependability and training must deliberately inquire into the constitutional provision involved, study its purpose, its history and its application through the generations, reflect upon the sense, or nonsense, to which various constructions might lead us, and decide upon which is safe and reasonable, always having in mind that construction is only necessary when ambiguity exists.

And if we abandon the use of courts in such a situation what have we left? Wherein would we differ from a central American republic or a Balkan state? How could we avoid confusion? Would not the rule be entirely in the hands of him who could direct the National Guard?

Socialists who brand the supreme court efforts at orderliness as suffocation of the people do not think very far ahead. Neither do they read very far behind else they would know that history reveals pretty well who suffocates the people.

THE KLUXER MUST GO

From the White House comes the thinly veiled declaration that unless Kluxer Black can meet the charges of Klan involvement the President will demand his resignation from the bench.

It is proper, indeed essential, to permit Kluxer Black (no one thinks of him as Justice Black) the opportunity to meet the evidence already submitted to the people. Yet it is hardly rushing the matter by saying that the evidence which Kluxer Black will be expected to overcome is the kind of evidence that is seldom demolished.

The truth is clear, however, plenty clear for us, and supported by Kluxer Black's silence.

The record shows Kluxer Black as a pitiful figure, stooping to double dealing and chicanery to belool the people of Alabama and get their votes going or coming.

We doubt whether anyone can very easily think of an act that would more clearly expose a man as a charlatan, and a sly and designing one at that, than the Black record.

His fealty to the New Deal was the same sort of opportunism. Black is for the wagon, whichever way it goes. He prefers to ride whatever price he pays. A people at all critical of their government or mindful of the honor and character necessary in the judiciary would not elect Mr. Black to the most ordinary judicial position.

But the President has weighed him with the greatest of honors which shows that Mr. Roosevelt pays loyalty to his person by even endangering the republic.

SOMETHING TO LEARN FROM HITLER

The German leader has a brother.

Not long ago he was interviewed by an American correspondent who found him out.

His name upon the door is inconspicuously printed. He does not parade in the glitter that belongs to his successful brother at Berlin.

He told the correspondent that although he was interested in politics, had once actively participated, and still was attached to the same ideas as the Fuehrer, that his brother had told him not to take part in political events because the German people didn't like to see important positions made into "family affairs."

Thus we have found a high virtue in the German tyrant.

It could safely be brought to these shores without transplanting racial antipathies and religious intolerance.

Whether the Fuehrer's decision was made through a sort of decency or modesty, or based as he said upon a deep-rooted aversion in the German people to the use of family prestige to pick the peaches from the trees, we do not know.

But in a world where nepotism is emptying the cash box, and particularly in America where ruling families so often grab everything in sight for themselves while weeping over those who haven't any job, the effect is akin to going into one of those air-conditioned rooms during a spell of humid heat when the thermometer is above a hundred.

SHOOTING GENERAL DENHARDT

Three brothers, otherwise lawabiding, moved out of hotel shadows Monday night and slew General Denhardt whose trial for the murder of their sister resulted in a disagreement.

These killers were convinced beyond all doubt, as were a majority of Kentucky people who kept in touch with the trial, that General Denhardt was guilty of murdering the woman who refused to become his life consort.

Kentuckians often act in haste and spend long years regretting hot tempered deeds. By no rule of civilized society can their conduct be upheld. But their action is bound to have a salutary effect just as the lynching of the San Jose kidnapers did a pile of good in California although it was an act of brutal outlawry.

We have had quite a number of instances in the last few years where justice limped along so sadly others, becoming angry at the wrongs of her delay, wrenched her sword from her grasp and wielded it savagely.

Impatient acts of this kind must not go unnoticed. Though they may only reflect bitter hatred or the intemperate action of some individual, they more often mirror a general public opinion that justice might proceed a little faster with less doddling, fewer side issues, and more attention to the gravity of punishing the guilty.

THE WARDEN IS A SOLDIER

The California prison break unfolds "the vile deeds like poison weeds that bloom in prison air" but fortunately such an outburst is something of an instructor for us concerning the heroic men who man our prisons and offer their lives in the performance of their duties which include the protection of the public at any risk from the desperadoes.

Knowing that the criminal mind figures a break will be successful if the warden is kidnapped and forced to give orders helpful to the convicts Warden Larkin had forestalled any successful adventure along this line by instructing all guards as follows:

"If I am ever kidnaped and I order you not to shoot and you obey my order, you won't be here the next day. No matter what I tell you, you start shooting."

This may furnish some proof to sustain George Bernard Shaw's maxim that "the most anxious man in prison is the governor," because he has cause for anxiety but Mr. Shaw's statement must be supplemented to the effect that there is no braver man within the prison walls than that very prison governor.

When a warden writes a rule that is likely at any moment to turn into his death warrant and does it solely as did Larkin to protect the people from the gorillas entrusted to his care we are given a chance to see public service of a splendid, indeed, the highest order.

SINCE YOU HAVE BEEN MY FRIEND

Since you have been my friend, the days are brighter than they used to be. The shadows fade beneath your gaze; Where you are, there is harmony.

Since you have been my friend, I walk On greener pathways than before. We spend an hour in quiet talk, And sunbeams linger at my door.

Since you have been my friend, who have Such genius for true friendship's art. A thousand joys I used to crave Come singing to my happy heart. (Copyright, 1937)

WHAT IS A DAY'S WORK?

Educators and students generally agree that when the individual's capacity to give attention has been exhausted there is nothing to be gained by further study, work or restraint. It is time to knock off study or work, and seek refreshment, change of occupation or environment or interest, recreation, rest. In an endeavor to teach this lesson recently I aroused the indignation of a Prodigy, who came right back with this protest:

"You seem to consider a 7-hour day of work almost impossible and a 5-hour day a fair day's work. In this community any one who worked only 7 hours a day would be considered an idler, and 10-hour days are the usual thing."

"I myself have just finished a four months period of heavy work, both physical and mental, of not less than 16 hours a day, and some days 18 or 20 hours, six days a week, then on Sundays I took it easy, doing only five to eight hours work."

"Of course that pace would soon wear a man out, but it is at least possible to maintain attention to work for more than seven hours a day."

Oh, well, I was thinking of ordinary human beings.

If labor-saving machinery serves only to give more wealth and more leisure to those who already have more than is good for them, it is of doubtful advantage to civilization. Rightfully applied, every new labor-saving invention should be joyfully hailed by all workers as well as the parasites who prey upon the workers, for its adoption should invariably tend to decrease the hours of labor and increase wages of labor.

A goal well within sight today is the five hour day and the five day week for all kinds of work.

Any one who has put in five hours of honest work, whether physical, mental or both, has done a good day's work.

When an individual is working for himself, on some project or venture of his own, of course he may enjoy putting in a phenomenal day or several of them when circumstances require or invite it. Or in emergencies an employee may work long hours overtime for while. So may one worry along somehow on half the customary hours of sleep or perhaps without any sleep at all for a night now and then. But these spurts or strains inevitably draw on one's reserve of life and if some serious illness or accident happens when life is low the capacity to recover is not so good.

My friend the Prodigy misinterpreted what I sought to teach. The millions of workers who put in all or nearly all day at their work in factory, office or shop and seldom have a chance to absorb any sunshine, deserve better consideration for they are the backbone of the nation and their health and vitality determine the destiny of America. There is no reason why every such worker should not have half of each day's sunshine to enjoy as he or she likes.

Five hours is a good day's work. I've tried it and I know.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Myopia

Did you say adrenalin solution dropped in the eyes prevents increase in near-sightedness in cases of myopia? Altho I have correct glasses my eyesight seems to be getting poorer? (M. G.)

Answer—One drop of 1 to 1,000 solution of adrenalin chloride (otherwise called epinephrin) dropped in each eye three times a day, over a prolonged period of four or five years, seems to retard the progress of myopia and the increase of nearsightedness. It is harmless in any case. The adrenalin or epinephrin solution should be fresh. It should be kept in a dark place, for exposure to light turns it pink or reddish and destroys its potency.

Vitamin C

Suggest substitute for tomato juice which is good source of vitamin C, I can't bear the taste of tomato juice? (R. A. C.)

Answer—Any fresh fruit or fresh green vegetable or relish contains plenty of vitamin C. Classical sources are the citrus fruits or their juices, grapefruit, lemon, orange, lime.

Your Birthday

"LIBRA"

If September 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m., from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m., and from 6:45 to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a. m., from 4:45 to 6:45 p. m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m.

If September 23 is your birth anniversary, you were born under the Zodiacal sign Libra. Your sense of proportion should be exceptionally well developed. As Venus rules this sign, Libras reflect her pleasing attributes, with the consequence that they are generally, noticeably well-mannered, chivalrous, neighbors, tactful and affectionate. They are capable of being honey-tongued, goodnatured and possessing "the fall fellow well met" spirit. If a Libra you ought to have a large circle of enthusiastic friends and admirers. You should have exquisite taste, and many accomplishments, on are probably a born diplomat, so can handle successfully any difficult situation. Your ideas of fairness, through a process of growth, have become so well defined that people who know you, can count on your rendering an impartial decision, if asked for one. Married and engaged couples, and any loving pair, who have occasion to celebrate this day, as their birthday, should remember that the sardonyx and opal are Libra's lucky birth stone, and that the pansy, nasturtium, violet, gladiolus, and rose are the natal flowers.

If a woman and September 23 is your birthday, bear in mind that Friday ought to be the most auspicious day in the week for you. And indigo blue and deep-red are colors you might do well to affect. To be happy you must have interests that will keep you busy because your active mind must have something worthwhile to occupy it. Your environment must be cheerful, and away from discordant noises. Social welfare, missionary, literary, musical or artistic work may provide you with the opportunity to make a name and fortune. You may discover you have been very fortunate in your selection of a husband.

The child born on September 23, usually is blessed with a happy disposition. Perhaps, from the time it is old enough to think about such things it will be decidedly finicky about its clothing. If this youngster has learned to realize that there is a time to work and a time to play, nothing can impede a steady progress to prosperity.

If a man and September 23 is your natal day, you must keep physically fit through exercise, and not devote too much time to pleasure, to get the right results. As an electrical, civil or mining engineer, architect, lawyer, clergyman, author, actor, singer or salesman your efforts should be well rewarded.

NOW UP TO MR. ROOSEVELT

Editor Post-Crescent—The appointment of Hugo Black as a judge of the U. S. Supreme court has caused much discussion and a great deal of surprise to the people of this country.

President Roosevelt's action has placed him in a position that he decidedly cannot resist. It is hard to understand his action in this matter in appointing a man to this exalted position, as it has been rumored that he was and is today a member of that notorious bigoted and un-American organization known as the Ku Klux Klan.

If such is the case, it is beyond the comprehension of any loyal American citizen why such a man should be allowed to take his seat and sully the Supreme bench by his presence.

The President alone is not so much to blame as those men sanctioning the appointment.

All including the President, now say that they were not aware of his (Black's) affiliation with the Klan.

They found this out rather late, and are now lamenting that a more thorough investigation was not carried out.

The President's attack on the Supreme Court was bad enough and now adds "insult to injury" by appointing a man whose Sphinx like silence causes thinking people to ask what the final result will be.

The President must now in all fairness to the American people decide that question.

Very Sincerely Yours

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — When (and if) President Roosevelt makes his trip into the Pacific Northwest, one of the things with which he is likely to come face to face is a melancholy sad-eyed salmon bewildered at the prospect of a 72-foot climb over Bonneville dam.

President Roosevelt is no salmon fisherman of the Columbia river sort. He put his name in the fishing annals with angling of a different sort—the deep sea variety. So perhaps when he ordered construction to begin on mammoth Bonneville dam 40 miles up stream from Portland on the Columbia, he did not have to wipe away a tear for the hardships he was imposing on the salmon.

Imagine the plight of mama and papa salmon wiggling their way up the Columbia river to the little gray home on the west slope of the Rockies where they were born. They have to get there, else there won't be any little baby salmon to come down to the ocean next spring for a four or five-year growing-up period.

High Jumping

To headwaters in the mountains is a trip of 600 to 1500 miles, with plenty of natural obstacles without such engineering hazards as Bonneville dam. But progress is progress; and if the salmon have to learn how to get over the dam as part of their contribution to civilization, undoubtedly it will be all right in the long run.

There is much controversy whether the salmon ever will be able to get over Bonneville dam in sufficient numbers to perpetuate the salmon canning industry at anything like its present level. It is rated as a $10,000,000 business, annually.

This year's crop will be the last to go up the river without going over the dam. At present they are using an 18-foot fish-ladder through the open spillways. To climb that is no trick for a salmon. He can make more than 18 feet without a real try.

But next January 1, when the spillways are to be closed, the fish must make a climb that ranges from 50 feet at high water to 72 feet when the stream below the dam is low. He must jump from one artificial pool to another, each one foot above another, until he has passed through 50 to 72 pools. He then is free to swim into the open river above and head for the Rocky mountains.

Catch as Can

He has an alternative system. An electric elevator has been installed at one point in the dam where the fish will be lifted, as in a basket, from the water below the dam to the reservoir above.

But before he can take either course, he must find one of the fish ladders or the elevator. If the salmon fails to find one or the other, he will sink on the river bed below the dam and die there—leaving no

4 Inaccuracies in Constitution Day Speech: Lawrence

Roosevelt's Statements Not In Accord With Historical Facts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Four major inaccuracies—statements that do not square with the historical facts—are contained in President Roosevelt's address on Constitution day, but no effort has been made to correct them and the chances are none will be made.

For it is the White House custom now-a-days never to acknowledge error and to assume that the people generally are too ignorant or too indifferent to care whether Mr. Roosevelt sticks to the facts of history when he makes commemorative speeches on public occasions.

The four inaccuracies are:

1. Mr. Roosevelt said with reference to the supreme court decision on state minimum wage laws, "after my message to the congress on the rejuvenation of the judiciary, the odd man admitted that the court had been wrong—for all those twenty years and overruled himself." The truth is Justice Roberts, who cast the deciding vote, did so in December, 1936, after the case was argued. This was several weeks before the president's judiciary message was delivered on Feb. 5, 1937. The actual opinion of the court was not announced until April, 1937, due to the absence of Justice Stone, who had been ill, and Mr. Stone did not overrule himself because he concurred the previous year in an opinion of the majority of the court holding state minimum wage laws to be constitutional.

"Judicial Veto" Question
2. Mr. Roosevelt stated that the "majority of the delegates" of the constitutional convention believed that "the relation of the supreme court to the congress and the executive, like other subjects treated in general terms, would work itself out by evolution and change over the years." He stated that the convention had voted down "judicial veto." Historians of even the left-wing school, among them Charles A. Beard, deny in their published works the accuracy of Mr. Roosevelt's statement.

Thus Mr. Beard lists 19 members of the convention as showing definitely that they comprehended the doctrine of judicial review and others frankly approved it, or at least acquiesced in it, and that there were six others who were favorable to it. Frank E. Melvin, another noted historian, says that seven others "should surely be added" to Board's list and that the evidence would indicate that 32 to 40 out of 55 delegates "upheld or accepted the right of the courts to disregard as law any unconstitutional legislation."

3. The president declared the constitution says nothing "about any power of the court to declare legislation unconstitutional." Justice Stone, a "liberal" who has been recorded as upholding the New Deal's contention as to constitutionality of legislation brought before the supreme court in the last four years, has said in a public address that the constitution does specifically, by "the language of the constitution itself in Article VI," give the supreme court the right to exercise its judicial power in declaring acts of congress unconstitutional. Mr. Stone said the subject was "no longer debatable," not only for the foregoing reason, but because of the facts contained in the "history of the judicial function before the constitution was adopted."

Different Methods
4. The president said "judicial veto" had been voted down again and again by the constitutional convention, but he did not state that the "judicial veto" was an entirely different proposition from the present method of declaring laws unconstitutional. It was a proposal to give the president and the supreme court together the right to veto legislation after congress passed it and then the court was later to have a second chance to pass on constitutional questions arising out of the law when lawsuits developed. When the president endeavors to give the impression that the power of the supreme court to declare acts of congress unconstitutional was not understood before the constitution was adopted, he runs counter to the record of statements made before the various state conventions which ratified the constitution.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"Hmmm, a flat tire—a sure sign of a bad housekeeper?"

There were then only 13 state conventions, but in at least six of them the subject came up and was fully debated. Explicit acknowledgments of the supreme court's power to invalidate legislation are to be found in the debates in the conventions of North Carolina, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts.

Alexander Hamilton, writing in the Federation, certain papers urging upon the people of the state of New York the ratification of the constitution pointed out that "no legislative act contrary to the constitution can be valid."

Depends on Judiciary
William R. Davie said to the North Carolina convention: "There is no rational way of enforcing the laws but by the instrumentality of the judiciary. It appears to me that the judiciary ought to be competent to the decision of any question arising out of the constitution itself."

Oliver Ellsworth said to the Connecticut convention: "If the general legislature should at any time overstep their limits, the judicial department is a constitutional check. If the United States go beyond their powers, if they make a law which the constitution does not authorize, it is void; and the judicial power, the judges, who, to secure their impartiality, are to be made independent, will declare it to be void."

George Nicholas said to the Virginia convention: "Who is to determine the extent of such powers? I say, the same power which, in all well-regulated communities, determines the extent of legislative powers. If they exceed these powers, the judiciary will declare it void, or else the people will have a right to declare it void."

Patrick Henry said to the Virginia convention: "I take it as the highest encomium on this country, that the acts of the legislature, if unconstitutional, are liable to be opposed by the judiciary."

Marshall's View
John Marshall (later chief justice) told the Virginia convention: "If they (the congress) were to make a law not warranted by any of the powers enumerated, it would be considered by the judges as an infringement of the constitution which they are to guard. They would declare it void."

James Wilson said to the Pennsylvania convention: "If a law should be made inconsistent with those powers vested by this instrument in congress, the judges, as a consequence of their independence, and the particular powers of government being defined, will declare such a law to be null and void; for the power of the constitution predominates. Anything, therefore, that shall be enacted by congress contrary thereto, will not have the force of law."

Luther Martin, arguing before the Maryland convention against ratification of the federal constitution, said: "Whether, therefore, any laws or regulations of the congress, any acts of the president or other officers, are contrary to, or not warranted by, the constitution, rests only with the judges, who are appointed by congress to determine, by whose determination every state must be bound."

Court Must Decide
John Steele said to the North Carolina convention: "The judicial power of that government is so well constructed as to be a check. If the congress make laws inconsistent with the constitution, independent judges will not uphold them, nor will the people obey them."

There was so far as is known no challenge in any of the debates in the various state conventions of the definite understanding that the supreme court had the power to declare acts of congress or state laws to be null and void if in conflict with the constitution as interpreted by the supreme court.

President Roosevelt himself as late as March, 1930, accepted in a public address the doctrine of "judicial interpretation" of the constitution and only recently has he tossed it overboard. In this he is following the advice of laymen among his brain trusters rather than jurists or lawyers. But history is not on their side, though, to be sure, the dogmatic statements of a presidential address like that delivered last Friday may be accepted hereafter by those who wish to do so as factually correct if the history of the United States begins with March 4, 1933, as so many New Dealers really believe.

Editor Says Women Must Stand on Own Feet, Use Common Sense to Progress

WOMEN must inform themselves without prejudice, forget that they are women and cease emphasizing discrimination between the sexes, learn to put their faith in politics and not in politicians and stop patting themselves on the back about caring for the higher things of life until they obtain some of the lower things if they are to take their places as better citizens, Mrs. Bess M. Wilson, women's organizations editor of the Minneapolis Journal said in an address on "Achievements of Women" before a district meeting of Business and Professional Women's clubs last night at Conway hotel.

A plea for common sense and unemotionalism was voiced by the speaker who said that things are not accomplished by tears or wild-eyed behavior. She expressed herself as being "fed up with women with ideals and no ideas" and added that often the work women term as "missionary" work is actually just interference for it is too emotional.

"We have learned that women are not going to clean up politics just because they are women," Mrs. Wilson stated, "for women do not play politics any differently from men, have hands no cleaner than men." She pointed to achievements of women from earliest times in America, showing that women used the same tactics in business that the men used and followed the same code of ethics.

What women have done they have accomplished by rolling up their sleeves and getting down to work, the speaker pointed out. In 1647 Mary Brent, attorney representing Lord Baltimore in America, asked for the vote, the first case of a woman thought it would be nice to have it to flavor food and also because she realized she could make money on it, the first sidewalk was laid in New York by a woman, she went on, and the largest slave owner in Maryland was a woman.

During the Revolutionary period, the speaker said, women gave of their wealth, worked in the fields and took over men's jobs, and later they fought Indians.

Mrs. Wilson pointed out that where a great woman leader has developed, it does not mean that she has done all the work, for the idea of woman began long before, and time and evolution brought one person to the foreground. She expressed the belief that women will follow a leader of their own sex quicker than they will a man.

Wants Security
In conclusion the speaker voiced the hope for a society planned so that people have security in their jobs and homes, security against war, and a government for all of the people in which there is opportunity for everyone.

A short report on the national convention at Atlantic City, N. J., this summer was given by Miss Marie K. Franzen, Milwaukee, state president, who was one of the guests of honor last night. The Appleton club chorus sang a group of selections with Mrs. Floyd Foor playing the accompaniment. The community singing was led by Miss Florence Schaefer, Miss Vera Pynn, president of the local club, presided and introduced the speakers.

Garden flowers in profusion decked the tables and odd corners of the Crystal room last night, for the event was in the nature of a garden party. Trellises around the pillars and at the sides of the room were wound with vari-colored flowers to give the garden atmosphere.

State Officers Present
A large number of out-of-town visitors were present at the dinner meeting last night including several state officers and board members, presidents of neighboring clubs and guests from Neenah-Menasha, Kaukauna, Neenah, Sheboygan, Marinette, Manitowish, and Green Bay. A reception in honor of Miss Franzen, state president, Mrs. Wilson, and state officers was held after the dinner and program.

Announcement was made of a state night meeting at Sheboygan Oct. 2, to be held at Pine Hills Country club when Luella Canterbury, Chicago, will speak. There will be a district meeting at Marinette Oct. 9.

The local club will sponsor a Sal Magundy party Oct. 8 at Appleton Womans club.

Parties
Miss Connie Murphy 1620 N. Morrison street entertained Sunday afternoon and evening in honor of the christening of her daughter, St. Peter's. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Baumann and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Kimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fox, Jr., Kaukauna, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stangle, Gertrude and Leo Stangle, Norman Day, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, Black Creek, and Nick Kiefer, Freedom.

Mrs. Reinhold Pasch 1217 N. Harrison street, was hostess at a benefit dinner party for Delta chapter, Employees Mutual Benefit association, Wednesday afternoon at her home. Four tables were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. Jackson Fowler, Mrs. William Van Rytie and Mrs. Robert McCoy.

The third of a series of open card parties will be sponsored by St. Joseph's Ladies Aid society at 2.30 Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Mrs. A. J. Kranhold, Mrs. Reinhold Lehrer and Mrs. John Hoh will be in charge and schaffschopf, bridge and plumpack will be played.

Harvey Pierre auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor an open card party at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Eagle hall. Progressive bridge, schaffschopf, slat,

ON D. A. R. PROGRAM

Princess Nadonis Shawa, above, will come from her log cabin home near Baraboo next week to present her program of original readings, traditional songs, Indian lore and Indian dances at a public program to be given here next Wednesday night, Sept. 29, in connection with the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The program will be given at the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Princess of Ojibways to Perform Here

APPEARING in the colorful costume of her people, Nadonis Shawa, half-breed Ojibway Indian princess, will give her program of original poems, legendary stories and Indian dances next Wednesday night, Sept. 29, at First Methodist Episcopal church in connection with the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution which will be held in Appleton Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Her presentation at 8.30 will be followed at 9 o'clock by an address by Sherman Rogers, Detroit, on "Constructive Americanism." Both will be open to the public.

Princess Nadonis Shawa was taken out of her native environment by a family of Pennsylvania Quakers to be educated. Her talent for writing poetry and reading soon won the attention of Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Sarah Bernhardt, who, with Theodore Roosevelt, gave her assistance in receiving the artistic education she desired. Through the influence of Mme. Bernhardt, she attended Bernhardt's French school of Acting, New York City.

The Indian princess has made a number of trips abroad, and at one time appeared before the king and queen of England in a recital with Caruso and Nazimova at Kensington palace. She has appeared in lyric and chautauqua presentations, and has compiled a book of Indian legends and lore.

Variety of Entertainment Features Rushing Parties

THE college spotlight continues to be focused on the social events with which Lawrence college sororities and fraternities are entertaining freshmen this week, preparatory to making a bid for new members. Evening dinners, steak fries, casino parties and movies are entertaining the rushees of the six social fraternities on the campus, while the six social sororities are entertaining at afternoon parties at the fraternity houses.

Alpha Delta Pi sorority was hostess at a tropical sea party Tuesday afternoon at the Delta Sigma Tau house, where decorations of palms suggested a South sea island beach overlooking the Pacific. Music from two Hawaiian guitars, played by Roy and Kent, and the fish net which tied the menu and programs, heightened the illusion. Favors were paper weights made in the form of little glass balls filled with water and fish and birds made of shells. The place cards were also decorated with shells and placed in shell holders.

The tropical sea menu included conch salad a force, which was actually cones filled with salmon and tuna fish salad; slaw a la Pacific; sea biscuits; sea foam sherbet, plain lime sherbet, the chairman admitted; and tropical cooler, which was iced tea. Sorority songs, led by Miss Marjorie Wilson, Elmhurst, Ill., and movies of Alpha Delta Pi girls on the campus, were on the program. The committee in charge of the party consisted of Miss Gay Patterson, Oak Park, chairman, Miss Ruth Ragland, Elmhurst, Ill., and Miss Peg Powers, St. Charles, Ill.

Hold Gypsy Tea
A Gypsy tea was the rushing function given by Delta Gamma Tuesday afternoon at the Delta Tau Delta house with Miss Grace Cooley, Oshkosh, as chairman. A string ensemble provided music while Mrs. Marie Dick of Menasha told fortunes and Mrs. Arthur Roemer gave numerology readings. Miss Maureen May, Des Plaines, Ill., gave a piano solo, and Miss Ellen Driscoll, Appleton, gave a reading. Pink and blue sachets were favors. Decorations were carried out in the sorority colors, bronze, pink and blue.

Mrs. A. B. Null and Mrs. J. R. Benton poured tea after the program. On Thursday the group will have a party at the Phi Delta Theta house and on Friday at the Phi Kappa Tau house.

Zeta Tau Alpha rushees were given a preview of fall fashions interspersed with musical selections at a style show and musicale Tuesday afternoon at the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity house. Those who acted as models were the Misses Margaret Eberlein, Shawano; Dorothy and Katherine Schwab, Viola Hellerman and Nell Chamberlain. Miss Marian Gerlach, Weyauwega, played the piano accompaniment for the style parade.

Musical Program
The musical program opened with a vocal duet, "Call to a Freshman," by the Misses Pat Engelland, Blue Island, Ill., and Ruth Johnson, Neenah, and continued with a solo, "Zeta Girl," by Miss Engelland and a trio, "Evening Serenade" by the Misses RaMona Roehl, Appleton; Pat Engelland and Ruth Johnson. Violin duets were presented also. Booklet programs containing initial bookmarklets of hammered silver, given as favors. Coffee and refreshments was served after the program with Miss Margaret Ralph.

Plans Christmas Party
Plans were begun for the annual Christmas party at the meeting of Campion Mothers club following a luncheon Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Baldwin, 707 S. State street. A rummage sale was planned for Oct. 16 with Mrs. John Balliet in charge. The next meeting will be Oct. 12 at the home of Mrs. Balliet, 2 Brokaw place.

Mrs. John Grande and son, Jack, Virginia, Minn., and Mrs. Celia Pickett, Biwabik, Minn., arrived yesterday to spend the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Pickett, 719 E. Circle street. Mrs. Pickett is Mr. Pickett's mother and Mrs. Grande is his sister.

Unit at Seymour to Sponsor Two-Day Clinic Next Week

Seymour—Mrs. Chester Ziegenbein was elected president of the American Legion auxiliary at a meeting Monday evening at the legion hall. Other officers elected were Mrs. Ray Miller, first vice president; Mrs. Arthur Zuehlke, second vice president; Mrs. Forrest Hunt, treasurer; Mrs. Clyde Van Vuren, chaplain; Mrs. Frank Long, organist; Mrs. Ray McIntyre, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Alvin Piel, publicity officer; Mrs. Harry Thompson, executive committeewoman for a term of three years; Mrs. Mary Chamberlain, committeewoman for two years; and Mrs. Ed Pasch, for one year.

Other officers will be appointed by the new president. The auxiliary will sponsor a two-day clinic at the legion hall next week. The baby clinic will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 28, and the general or school age clinic will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 29. Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, will direct the clinic with the assistance of two physicians. At the next meeting of the organization will take place. Hostesses for the last meeting were Mrs. Van Vuren and Mrs. Piel.

A surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. John Beamesderfer Friday afternoon with 11 guests present. The occasion was her birthday. Bridge was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Dora Vandenberg, Mrs. Frank Chase, and Mrs. Carrie Timmers. At 5 o'clock a supper was served.

The following were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sherman Sunday to help Mr. Sherman celebrate his birthday: Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Sherman, Menasha, Mr. and Mrs. William Weller, Richland Center, and Mr. and Mrs. James Weller, Pickett.

The Royal Neighbors lodge held its regular meeting Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Louis Reis. Twelve members were present and the husbands and hearts were won by Charles Rau and Frank Heagle, in the letter by Mrs. George Mott and Miss Emma Mattis. Refreshments were served after the cards.

The "Farther With Christ Mission" of the Evangelical church which was held at the First church in Milwaukee on Sunday and Monday was attended by the following people from Seymour: the Rev. H. A. Bernhardt, Robert Geese, and Fred Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ahlman, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Huth and son Ralph, and Mrs. Fred Huthman.

Mrs. Arvin Otto is ill at her home. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huth visited relatives at Lannon on Sunday.

Issue 3 Permits to Build, Move Houses

Three permits, one to erect a $6,000 dwelling and two to move houses to new locations, were issued Tuesday by Lloyd M. Schindler, building inspector. Joseph Hiker was given a permit to build a home at 400 N. Superior street. The building will be of frame construction with brick veneer and will be 32 by 28 feet. The garage will be 20 feet square. Hycroft Realty company was given a permit to move a 24 by 32 dwelling from 1312 S. Outagamie street to 1545 Prospect avenue at an estimated cost of $1,000. A garage will also be moved to the new location. A permit for $900 was issued to Michael Benzschawel to move a 4-room dwelling from the town of Menasha to 1917 Jefferson street. The home to be moved is 28 by 22 feet.

WOMEN In The News

PLANE DESIGNER
Mrs. F. G. Miles, Britain's only woman aircraft designer, helped to build the plane in which her husband will compete for the King's Cup.

DOUBLE FOR DUCHESS
Miss Frances Montague Hill's resemblance to the Duchess of Windsor, her first cousin, was apparent to few until this photograph was given out in connection with her marriage to Capt. Edward Colston Dyer of the U. S. Marine Corps.

TREASURE FINDER
Dorothy Buice found a portfolio containing $25,000 on her counter in an Atlanta "5 and 10" store, promptly returned it to the owner—and refused a dollar reward.

WAR NARRATOR
Mrs. Bernice Wolk, arriving home in Los Angeles, had no trouble registering her horror when she described the bombardment of her hotel in Shanghai.

Quill and Scroll Society Discusses Plans for 1937-38
Plans for the year were discussed at a meeting of the Quill and Scroll society Monday at Appleton High school.

Officers of the society, elected last spring, include: Mary Jane Frieders, president; Robert A. Schroeder, vice president; Katherine Pride, secretary; and Anthony Koehne, treasurer.

Students of the high school are eligible for membership in the society for conspicuous service in journalism. The Appleton chapter was organized in 1925 and is a member of the national organization. Juniors and seniors who have given faithful service on the Talisman or the Clarion are elected to the society at the beginning of each semester. The aim of the organization is to foster journalism and to sponsor as many activities of a journalistic nature as possible.

Miss Dolly Le Vett, Chicago, has been a guest at the home of Mrs. Ruth Wenkauf, 841 E. Pacific street, since Sunday. Miss Le Vett was graduated from Lawrence college last June and has come here to assist with the fall rush.

Teacher of Mission to Speak Here

MISS FAITH LIPPARD, kindergarten teacher in a mission school in Omi, Japan, who is in the United States on furlough, will give an address at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the sub auditorium of Trinity English Lutheran church for all women of the congregation and their friends. Miss Lippard who was born in Japan of pioneer missionary parents, has lived there all her life except for the period during which she received her education in America. She is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and of Temple university in Philadelphia. Miss Lippard is supported by the Women's Missionary society of the Northwest synod of the United Lutheran Church in America and is appearing in Appleton under the auspices of the Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church.

Miss Ramona Roehl will sing a group of solos at the meeting Thursday, and tea will be served after the program. Mrs. R. C. Breiling is chairman of the tea.

A food sale was planned for Oct. 30 at the meeting of Monte Alverno Retreat House Guild Tuesday night at the retreat house. A jelly show or social hour took place. Mrs. Dan Steinberg, Sr., won the prize at contract. Mrs. Leo Rechner, the auction prize and Mrs. E. Albrecht the award at schafskopf.

Mrs. Belle Hart and Mrs. Louis Vincent were guests at the meeting of Circle Ruth of First Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. M. Peckard, route 2, Appleton. Seventeen members were present. Mrs. Carl Ebert led devotions. The next meeting will be Oct. 19 at the home of Mrs. Oscar Johnson, 1525 S. Mason street.

Mrs. Oscar Booldt, 217 S. Badger avenue, will be hostess to the Social Welfare circle of the John Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday afternoon at her home. Members will sew on aprons for the fall bazaar.

Cross-Ruffs Often Require Great Delicacy in Timing

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Hands involving cross-ruffs often require great delicacy in timing. The trick is to cash one's top cards before the defenders can void themselves in those suits. But this, of course, is just a generality. Different holdings demand different tactics. In the hand shown below the question of entries is the crucial one.

Match-point duplicate
South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable

NORTH
♠ K Q 8
♥ K 7 4 3
♣ A 10 6 4 2

WEST
♥ J 10 9 2
♦ A K Q 3 2
♣ Q 5

EAST
♠ 9 4 2
♥ Q 8 5
♣ J 9 8 3

SOUTH
♠ A 10 8 3
♥ A 6
♦ J 8 6 4
♣ K 7

The bidding:
South West North East
1 spade 2 diamonds 3 spades Pass
4 spades Pass Pass Pass

North was not completely satisfied with his own double spade raise, but probably thought it the least of all evils. As a matter of fact, it was a highly dangerous bid. For all North knew, South might have a four card spade suit. After a double raise this would not keep him from bidding four spades, since he would expect to find at least four trumps in North's hand. North counted his singleton diamond and three trumps as valuable for ruffing purposes, but, obviously, if South needed North's trumps as trumps, they could not be used for ruffs also. North should have bid three clubs and hoped that South would be able to rebid spades. Then, in the knowledge that South had at least five trumps, four spades would have been marked bid.

West opened the diamond king and shifted to the heart jack. Declarer saw that his contract was virtually "on ice," but, since this was matchpoint duplicate, he naturally wanted to make as many tricks as possible.

Two different lines of play were suggested. One to attempt the establishment of North's club suit; the other, to embark on a straight cross-ruff. With nothing whatsoever to guide him, declarer might well have chosen the club suit establishment plan. But he saw an objection to this. West a fairly conservative player, had made a vulnerable overall of two diamonds. He could have no ace or king in any suit except diamonds, and therefore it appeared highly likely that he held at least a six card suit. This, in turn, implied that a 3-3 club break and a 3-2 spade break were extremely remote. Since the club establishment plan depended upon both of these breaks, declarer rightly determined to abandon that plan in favor of the cross-ruff.

Winning West's heart lead with the ace, declarer ruffed a diamond with dummy's low trump, then cashed the heart king, and ruffed a third round with the spade three. Another diamond was ruffed with the queen, and declarer carefully noted East's discard of a club.

It became more and more probable that East had long spades, which, of course, implied that he held the jack. A fourth round of hearts was ruffed with the spade eight. East meanwhile discarding another club. Now, to prevent East from getting rid of any more clubs, declarer played the king and over to the ace, then led a third round of clubs. East down to trumps, had to ruff. Declarer overruffed his last diamond with dummy's spade king. Now, East forced to undertrump. With the play in dummy, all declarer had to do was lead a club and again overruff East. Only one trick, the first, had been lost.

A slightly different sequence of plays on declarer's part would have held him to eleven tricks, as was manifested by the fact that most players in his position had to be satisfied with only one overtrick.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Salt of Sea and Land

III—TURKEY'S LAKE OF SALT
Turkey has several salt lakes, and the largest one is called Tuz. During the rainy season it is about 60 miles long and 20 miles wide. In summer, when there is little rainfall, the lake almost dries up, and leaves a huge bed of salt, with some "marshy" places.

A Great Salt Pile Near Edge of Turkey's "Lake of Salt."

This lake was at one time known as "Tatta." It was visited by a Greek traveler named Strabo more than 1,800 years ago. He called it a "salt sea" and went on to say, "If birds touch the water, they at once fall down because of the weight of salt on them, and then it is easy to catch them."

That statement may have started the old story that a bird can be caught by "putting salt on its tail." Last year, while I was riding through Utah on a train a porter told me about a flock of water birds which had alighted in Great Salt Lake. He said that all of them had died, and that their bodies had been washed ashore.

In past ages, Lake Tuz was far larger than it is today, in the rainy season. The chance seems to have been due to the general climate becoming more dry.

In the old days are great masses of salt, giving the people of Turkey a lasting supply. Men mine salt from the hills into which it has formed. Slabs are cut away, and are piled near the edge of the lake.

Traders come to buy the slabs. Then the salt is loaded on the backs of camels and donkeys. Long trains of the animals file away, taking their cargo toward cities.

Salt mines exist in many places on our own continent. In our next story, we shall have a good deal to say of them, but today I wish to mention one which is of special interest. In southwestern Nevada, the remains of an Indian salt mine have been found.

That Indian mine seems to date back to a time before white people came to North America. A hole in the ground is the entrance to a tunnel which leads to a room far back in a mountain. This room is the largest of six which were made when salt was taken away.

Here and there in the old Indian mine, modern explorers have found arrow-heads, stone hammers, and broken pieces of clay dishes. They also picked up the remains of torches which Indian miners used while they were at work taking out the salt.

Not far from the old salt mine are the ruins known as Pueblo Grande de Nevada. These ruins are spoken of as one of the "lost cities" of olden Indians. It is likely that people who lived in the place went to obtain salt from the nearby mine.

Provide Good Tools for Children's Work, Play

BY ANGELO PATRI

A workman needs the best tools. The finer the workman the greater his need for fine tools. The poor worker, being in need of all the help he can get, must have good tools. We all know this is true, but we come across children trying to do a good job with very poor tools, not because the children select them, or wanted them, but because some grown-up was thoughtless and bought them for his use.

Boys are given tool boxes. "A very nice set," says the salesman, and they do look well, shining there in the neatly arranged chest. "I'll take them," says the kindly relative, and brother gets the useless tool chest. The head comes off the hammer; the chisel has no edge; the saw is without set or bang. The owner tries them out and stops in disgust. His notion of tools is "something to do without."

There are fine tools on the market. They are well made, of good steel. They will do the work required of them. They are plainly marked with their brands so that he who runs may read and not be deceived. Just a moment's time would make all the difference in the selection. Pick the tools that go into the boy's collection and don't take anything offered because it looks nice in the box. It is not to stay in a box. It is to be used, to give good service.

School material ought to be serviceable. Paper that blots, or has thin spots or holes is sheer waste of pupils' and teachers' time. It is too bad to make teachers and children worry about the appearance of papers when the quality of the paper makes good work impossible. I have seen children trying to write with pen and ink on paper that could be used only for pencil work. Why not use the pencil? Erasing pencil marks is easier than erasing pen marks, but the children will scratch the pen marks and blot them, so what is gained? Use the material as it can be used and avoid fretting about it.

Buy toys of good quality. The cheap one is not going to last. If it is just for the moment, like a balloon or a noise maker, well and good, for the sooner it goes the better. If it is a book, a wheel, a typewriter, a set of drawing tools, get them right or don't get them at all. There is no satisfaction in the work of a machine that fails or in a book whose type is blurred and whose binding cracks the first time it is opened. Buy quality and you will have to buy less, and what you buy will go further. The cheap paper goes into the basket in piles. The cheap machines lie in the dusty closet until a house cleaning throws them out.

The worst of it all is the discouragement of the children and the mistaken ideas that discouragement gives children. They don't like math because the trouble they have with books, paper, ink and pencils kills interest in the matter. They "can't do" typing because their machine stuck every other word. They hate wood-working because there was no edge on their tools and no swing to their hammer. This means a loss in herit, work, school work, community work wherever cheapness is placed above quality. Buy less but buy better and the children will do

Let's Think Of Beauty in Twin Terms

BY ELSIE PIERCE

EVERY woman is supposed to have a "double" somewhere. But for purposes of this discussion you don't have to go on a treasure hunt. You yourself have at least two beauty selves—when you look your best and when you don't. With a little stretch of the imagination can't you think of beauty in twin terms?

Here are identical twins, but you have to look closely to realize it. The twin on the right is wearing any sort of make-up, applied in any way and any coiffure—it may be last year's style, it may be ten years old, certainly it isn't modish or flattering.

Brow Beauty
Notice how heavy the eyebrows look and how near together the eyes appear due to too heavy application of eyebrow pencil. Notice how incorrect application of the wrong kind of lipstick tends to make the mouth look heavy and unnatural. Notice, too, how much too narrow the forehead looks for the face, due to wrong hair styles for this particular type.

Now let's study the "at her best" twin. First, she is wearing a make-up styled particularly to her type and her features as well as her coloring. Her "brushed back" coiffure was designed for her particular type of face. It emphasizes the beauty of her eyes, the fairly regular features and makes the forehead and cheeks look wider. The attempt has been for a "wide open" look to the face, particularly around the eyes and clever application of a perfectly blended eyebrow pencil, eye shadow and mascara has created that look. Notice that the nose appears foreshortened (again due to clever make-up) and how the natural, lovely curve of the upper lip is emphasized by lipstick perfectly blended and cleverly applied. The whole face seems to be lifted, widened, defined—just the difference between a blurred picture, for instance, and a beautiful, clear, retouched one.

Make-Up and Coiffure.
Then Clothes.

Clothes may make the man, but this picture should prove that make-up and coiffure come first in making the woman the beauty she should be. Coiffure, make-up, details of good grooming perfect posture and then clothes carefully selected for line and color to flatter your better beauty self. There you've the foundation for the "double" who should always do you justice.

My complete new booklet "Reduce by Exercise" (Booklet 202) is yours for ten cents. It covers the subject thoroughly. Send for it, giving your name and full address to the Bell Library, care this newspaper, 217 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y.

My Neighbor Says—

Pick and dry heavenly blue morning glory seeds before frost destroy them. Place in the sun until dry then store away.

Correct potting has much to do with the successful growth or blooming of any plant. The pot should be just large enough to permit setting in the plant slightly deeper than it was in the sand. The roots should be well down in the soil without bending and allowance should be made for growth.

To clean a soapstone sink, wash with ammonia and let stand for 12 hours. Then rub over with linseed oil and your sink will be lovely and bright. If grease accumulates again, rub over with a strong ammonia solution.

more and do it better. Even the smallest country school will find that true, and it is they who need most to prove it.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Many Reasons to Explain Failure to Get Husbands

BY DOROTHY DIX

A mother asks me why it is that her daughter, who is pretty, intelligent, sweet-tempered and domestic, and who is fitted in every way to make a good wife, has never had a single proposal of marriage and is drifting into spinsterhood.

DOROTHY DIX

There are many explanations of the old maid. Perhaps the chief one is that there are certain women who just have no attraction for men. They have every good quality except the one that would help them most in getting a husband. Why this is thus, we do not know. Nor do we know in what this mysterious power consists.

It isn't beauty. It isn't brains. It isn't amiability. It isn't goodness or even an affectionate disposition. For we have all seen Miss Americas who never had a beau and girls homely as mud fences that the boys swarmed around from the time they were pigtailed. We have seen Dumb Doras who have had seven husbands and college presidents who never had a chance at one. We have seen cold, selfish, gold-digger girls have dates to burn and warm-hearted, sympathetic, interesting girls spend their evenings at home with Mamma and Papa. So this ability to charm men is just a gift of the gods. If a girl has it, she can marry as often as she chooses. If she lacks it, it is just to bad, for there is nothing she can do about it.

Another reason why there are so many old maids is because many girls do not know how to "sell" themselves, so to speak. They do not know how to put their best foot foremost. They do not know how to make the most of what good looks they have. They do not know how to dress so as to bring out their good points. They do not know how to make a window display that will catch the masculine eye, so men pass them by without a second glance. They never even find out that the way the average woman pets her husband is by persuading him that she is just exactly what he wants and has been looking for.

Environment also plays a fatal part in the making of old maids. It is futile to hunt deer in a forest in which there is no game. Many a woman fails to marry because she lives in a community in which there are only senile grandpas and schoolboys. All the eligible men have left to seek their fortunes in other places and unless she has enough enterprise to get up and follow them she is foredoomed to want a woman to high-tail him and act as if she were conferring a favor upon him by letting him spend his money upon her giving her a good time. The dear Lady Disdain stuff doesn't go with the modern youth. He likes for the girl friend to be pleased with his attention, but not overjoyed. He wants her to meet him halfway, but not to do all of the running.

The reason many other girls do not marry is because they are too choosy. They are victims of the Fairy Prince myth. They are looking for some man who is as rich as Henry Ford, as handsome as Ramon Novarro and as romantic as Clark Gable on the screen to come along in his Rolls-Royce and marry them and take them off to his palace. Hence they turn down with scorn the poor young chap in a flannel shirt who is nothing to look at, who chokes on his Adams apple when he tries to make love, and who has nothing but a bungalow in which to set up house keeping. Many a woman who might have been happy with a good, honest husband of her own class sacrifices her opportunity ity to her dream and lives and dies a lonely old maid.

Also, families are first aid to spinsterhood. Before a girl can get married she has to have a chance to get acquainted with boys, yet there are parents who will not let their daughters have any boy friends or go to any place of amusement, and who make every youth who comes to the house feel that he is about as welcome as a case of smallpox. There are other parents who always sit in earshot when a boy calls and who let pestiferous little brothers and sisters always be under foot. Many a surly father has driven a desirable suitor away from his daughter. Many a slovenly mother has been an awful warning that caused a boy to look elsewhere for a wife.

Of course, there are many other reasons—a sharp tongue, dressing too extravagantly for their means, affecting to despise domesticity, being too highbrow, talking too much—that keep girls from marrying and explain the why of the old maid, but generally it is just because the woman and the hour and the man never meet.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST

FORKS OR FINGERS
Dear Mrs. Post: How far will you go in saying that fried chicken may be taken up with the fingers? My sisters make the biggest fuss because I like to pick up fried chicken, and the way they act one would think I were committing a rank sin. They tell mother that I might just as well be taught decent table manners now when I'm growing up or else I'll make some woman a miserable one day. Can you imagine?

Answer: If a man likes to eat a chicken wing or a squab leg in his fingers in his own house, there is no objection to his doing so because he can ask for a finger bowl (with slightly soapy hot water in it). The real objection to eating with the fingers is getting them greasy or sticky, and to such them or smear one's napkin is equally or more objectionable as a result!

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you tell me the present-day use of dollies, linen, lace and paper? (a) Are lace and linen ones no longer used on table tops and as antimacassars on the high backs of chairs? (b) And just how far may one go in using them on plates and trays? It seems that the women I know are packing their lovely lace and linen ones away almost entirely, and using paper ones on plates and trays. My husband says it's just another example of the perverseness of humans. (c) His favorite example, however, is that we fussed until we had electric lights in our house, and now he has to struggle half blindly through dinner with only the light of candles!

Answer: (a) Bare tables are in the extreme fashion of the moment, but even so, lace or linen plate mats are almost always used. Antimacassars are also seen occasionally, but not of starched white "Nottingham" on a dark colored chair. Fine ones colored so as to be inconspicuous against the back of the chair can be attractively used as useful. Perhaps the best kind of an antimacassar is a small square made of the same material as the upholstery of the chair. This can be cleaned as often as you like, and on the chair it does not shout its presence or advertise its use—not that this matters! (b) Paper dollies are preferred to linen ones on plates and trays, just as they have always been and in complicity or dishes under fruits or sweets. (c) Evidently you should use more candles or else supplement your candles for decoration, with electric lights, for use.

Dear Mrs. Post: You have written that after two others at table have been served, one may begin eating. This would not be considered polite if the meal, let's say, were a cold supper? Also, your answer to this question has brought another to my mind, that of the length of time one is expected to wait before beginning to eat at a lunch party served at many small tables.

Answer: It is entirely proper to begin to eat when two other people have been served. To wait for the hostess to begin was a quaint custom always, the reason for it having been that those at table did not know how to choose their implement until they noticed which one their hostess took. If this is the case, then one would follow it. In other words, one waits or not, as one chooses. The person served first at a small table would wait until another one or more likely two, had been served, and then begin to eat. What the people are doing at the other tables is of no concern to those at the first table. (Copyright, 1937.)

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—The years are so short:

1. The flaming-haired lady was hurt, incredulous, and not a little indignant. For all that she was beautiful.

"I don't know why he should say things like that," she declared. "Always before our relations have been of the friendliest and never have I said or done anything to make him angry at me. I can scarcely believe it."

The lady was worried, too. Her principal success in films had been with this man, and here, just as the team was about to be reunited, he had been quoted as protesting the reunion, objecting to playing in another picture with her.

Within a day or so, however, the "misunderstanding" had been ironed out. The picture was made. It was his last in America, but the beginning of her first real stardom. "The Merry Widow" was the final teaming. From then on Jeanette MacDonald became the "name" in her pictures, and Maurice Chevalier—he's back in France. Remember gay Maurice of the underslung lip?

Smith, Jones or Brown

2. He was one of a group of minor actors who came into the Hollywood late spot for a snack. None of them looked too happy, and this fellow—he was introduced as Mr. Smith or Mr. Jones, or Mr. Brown, I couldn't remember which the next day—seemed unhappiest of all.

He had done one picture, and he had backing from all present in his opinion that he hadn't been done right by. "But what could you expect of Hollywood?" was the tenor of the squawks, for these gentlemen were all from Broadway, and Hollywood was new. The turn of Mr. Jones (Smith, Brown's) lips were decidedly down.

But the next time I saw him, some months later, those lips were taking an upward trend. Hollywood had begun to find out about Joe E. Brown.

Ham and Eggs
3. In that same restaurant—it was Henry's, now gone from the boulevard—a frequent customer was a lank, cadaverously thin fellow who looked like the reincarnation of all the Shakespearean actors who ever lived. He would stride in, oblivious to the stares of the crowd, and proceed to a table in the rear where he would sip coffee and read from the book he always carried, "Ham," said many observers, without adding, "and eggs."

But the fellow didn't care. He had Hollywood sized up as a place where showmanship counts. He would read Shakespeare anyway, why not read him in a public place? But when he wanted to read aloud, he would go to the deserted Hollywood bowl and declaim to the night skies. He made no money at it, but the training must have helped. Since John Ford singled him out for "Prisoner of Shark Island," John Carradine has been able to put a little flesh on that cadaverous frame by eating regularly.

Chick Chandler of "Look Out, Mr. Moto" raises bees—and cleared $800 from the honey last year. . . . Glutton for punishment is Shirley Ross. . . . She has nine radios in her home—and it's not a big house either. . . . John Barrymore, under Elaine's wisely eye, is looking more trimmer than he has in months. . . . Eddie Cantor is writing a piece called "Get Thee Behind Me" . . . It's about trailers. . . .

Twentieth Century has the Oriental war situation well in hand, no matter who comes out on top, with Charlie Chan and Mr. Moto both under contract. . . .

Show Badger Cheese at Dairy Cattle Congress
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Wisconsin cheese will be featured in the products exhibits at the Dairy Cattle Congress to be held in Waterloo, Iowa from September 27 to October 3, the dairy promotion division of the department of agriculture and markets announced today.

The exhibition will include a variety of cheese manufactured in Wisconsin and will emphasize the state's leadership in cheese production, the division said.

Legion Busy on Program to Keep Nation From War

York or the legion ever saw—the veterans forgot martial airs and turned to the task of formulating a peace program designed to keep America out of war.

A record crowd estimated by police at 2,000,000 persons watched in alternate awe and enthusiasm as 20,000 legion men and women marched up the flag-decked, world famous avenue to the peal of bugle and the roll of thousands of drums.

A detail of motorcycle police who started the parade passed the reviewing stand at Fifty-ninth street at 8:20 a. m. (E.S.T.) yesterday, and the last unit, a dilapidated orange touring car loaded with Brockport, N. Y., legionnaires, wheeled by at 1:40 a. m. today.

Gigantic Crowd

The 53-block sector of Fifth avenue along which the former doughboys marched—the same route they followed in victory parades after the armistice 18 years ago—was packed from street to shop front by dense milling masses which at times escaped the control of 6,000 uniformed policemen.

Overhead 100 army bombers and pursuit planes roared in intricate formation.

Tons of confetti and paper streamers tossed from the towering skyscrapers kept 600 city broom pushers busy today, restoring the fashionable avenue to its usual spick-and-span appearance.

Most of the former service men slept late in hotel rooms today or accompanied their wives and children on sightseeing tours but the 1,939 official delegates, eyes heavy-lidded from lack of sleep, were up early for official sessions in the Metropolitan Opera house.

The convention was scheduled to hear important committee reports on finance, Americanism, child welfare, national defense, peace legislation and foreign relations.

Many Resolutions

The important resolutions committee, headed by John Gilmore of Michigan, sifted through several hundred resolutions, many of a highly controversial nature, for the few which will be represented to the convention for formal action tomorrow.

A movement by some legionnaires to force consideration of a resolution criticizing President Roosevelt's supreme court program apparently had faded. Legion officials indicated it was unlikely the organization would take a partisan stand on any political issue.

It was expected, however, the legion would consider a resolution clarifying the status of legionnaires in industrial disputes. Labor leaders, particularly during the big

Pupils to Present Home Room Show at Roosevelt

Pupils to participate in the home room program at Roosevelt Junior High school Friday morning were announced by school officials today.

steel strike, voiced bitter objection to the role played by veterans sworn in as "strike deputies."

Assail Nazis

The committee also was drafting resolutions condemning nazi proslaying in the United States, as suggested by National Commander Harry Colmery in his annual report Monday.

The committee on legislation was expected to ask the convention to give its Washington legislative committee an unmistakable mandate to work for passage of a universal service act which would mobilize wealth as well as men and ban excess profit in the event of war.

The five-man race for national commander apparently had narrowed to a hotly-contested battle between Daniel Doherty, Boston lawyer, and Ray Kelly, corporation counsel, Detroit. The election will be held tomorrow.

Hartnett and Root Give Cubs 7 to 5 Victory Over Giants

Gabby Blasts Triple in First With Bases Loaded
38.000 SEE GAME
Veteran Charley Comes To Rescue of French In Seventh

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer
THE Giants have had a dose of Dr. Charley Grimm's pet medicine—he hopes to call it "the pennant winner"—and they woke up today with a bitter taste in their mouths, a determination to do better and a National League lead that had dwindled to a game and a half.

Dr. Grimm's medicine, the one that has done such wonders for the cocky Cubs on past afternoons, is a well-adjusted mixture of garrulous Gabby Hartnett's war club and smooth-flowing relief pitching by veteran Charley Root.

The Giants got both yesterday, to the delight of 34,807 Chicago customers and the dismay of Gotham's rooters for a nickel world series.

Garrulous Gabby, he of the wagging tongue and the flailing shishlah, was in his best form. Missing only a homer on his triumphant tour, the big Cub backstop smashed out a triple with the bases loaded, a single that put him in position to score, and a double that drove home the final nail in the Giants' coffin and the final run in the Cubs' 7-5 victory.

Tigers Split
While the Cubs and Giants battle tooth and nail to settle their pennant issue, the Yanks sit still and ease in. When the Tigers split their double-header in Boston yesterday, losing the first, 12-7, to a ten-run Red Sox fifth inning, and winning the second, 4-1, that made it so much simpler for the Ruppert riot squad.

By winning both games from the Browns today, they can eliminate Detroit from all consideration. The Yanks and Browns were kept idle yesterday by the American Legion parade that ran up practically everything in New York.

The rest of the big league program saw the Dodgers drop two in St. Louis, 6-5 and 6-3; the Pirates sting the Bees, 10-1; Wally Moses' eleventh inning homer with a man on beat the White Sox, 5-4, for the Athletics, and Johnny Allen of the Indians win his thirteenth straight with a 6-3 subjection of the Senators.

MOORE OUT AT FIRST AS CUBS DEFEAT GIANTS
Joe Moore, New York Giant outfielder, was caught off first base after his single as the Giants opened their "crucial" series with the Chicago Cubs, which may settle the National League pennant race. Demaree's throw to Rip Collins (No. 3) trapped Moore. Luque, Giant coach, and Umpire Goetz are shown watching the play. Chicago won the game, 7 to 5.

City Leaguers Hold Banquet

Valley Irons Receive Gold Softballs for Winning Title
American City league softballers gathered around the festive board last evening at the Eagles hall for their annual banquet and the awarding of championship medals, individual medals and a trophy to the best dressed team. Franklin Warner, president of the league, presided.

Bob Burns, manager of the Valley Irons, first place winner in the league and city champion, was presented with the individual awards for the titlists, while the Kobal Taverners took the trophy for being the best dressed team. Paul Grishaber was presented with a medal as the league's best batter and Harold Steyer with a medal for being the best fielder. Grishaber played with the Irons and Steyer with the Keals.

Short talks were given by Earl Bates, president of the Fraternal league, H. J. Weller, president of the American league, Charles Pond, Helm C. Hunsner, as a representative softball fan, and Gordon McIntyre, sports editor of the Post-Crescent.

After the dinner and talks the softballers retired to the basement until the refreshments were gone.

San Antonio Trades Hurler; He Wins 31 Games for New Bosses

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK —(AP)—Officials of the San Antonio club of the Texas league have the misery. They are blue in the face trying to explain to fans why they traded pitcher Ash Hillin to Oklahoma City. (All Ash did for Oklahoma City was win 31 ball games). Looks like Jimmy Wilson at Cincinnati and more power to him.

Plan Field Hockey Teams at A. H. S.

Girls Being Groomed for Intramural Tournaments
Girls' intramural field hockey teams have been organized at Appleton High school and the fundamentals of the game are being taught under the direction of Miss Helen Gilman, girls' physical education instructor.

As soon as the technique of handling sticks and puts is mastered, intramural tournaments will be started. Six teams have organized and have been named after different colors.

Following are the teams: Reds, Virginia Burke, Audrey Childs, Margaret Davidson, Doris Grimmer, Ethel Melcher, Eva Merkel, Peggy Ogilvie, Jean Pierre, Mickey Voss and Grace Watson; Blues, Grace Buchert, Joan Cavert, Grace Fahrenkrug, Gladys Frogner, Ruth Gust, Clarice Holcomb, Jean Hoelzer, Rose Marie Locke, Beatrice McCrone and Irene Smith.

Kimberly High Meets Manawa Friday Night
Kimberly—The high school football squad will play Manawa here at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the high park. Coach Ray Hamann is giving his team regular workouts each afternoon to prepare for the game.

Last week the young gridders defeated Bear Creek 57 to 0 in their opening game. After the half, when the score was 25 to 0, every man on the squad saw action and showed well. Oct. 8 the Kimberly boys will go to Little Chute for a game with St. John's high school.

Fights Last Night
Cleveland — Charley Baxter, 137, Pittsburgh, knocked out Frankie Flynn, 130, Batavia, N. Y., (7).

Green Bay West Gears Attack for Appleton Eleven

Cahoon's Team Working Hard for First Conference Tilt

GREEN BAY—With Green Bay West opening its Fox River Valley conference season, and East facing another non-league opponent, both of the city's high school football teams will be in action again Friday night, each playing its second contest of the year.

West was beaten by Milwaukee Custer last Friday, 32 to 0, while East shaded Madison East Saturday night, 7 to 0.

Both teams will play Friday night, with the standout contest pitting Appleton's Valley conference favorites against West high at West stadium, starting at 8:15. East takes to the road for the first time this season, traveling to Marinette, former conference member.

Appleton, with two stellar backs in burly Chuck Sample and speedy Sonny Filz, will be favored to take West's young team, but Coach Ivan Cahoon expects his hard-working squad to register a smart improvement over its performance against Custer. Last year Appleton won from West, 6 to 0, at Appleton.

Filz handles the team's passing and punting assignments, while Sample, a 200-pounder, does the line plunging and the principal blocking job. West has a good punter in Vernon Anderson, and several likely passers, but the team is handicapped severely by inexperience.

Gears Up Attack
Cahoon this week is trying to gear up his speedy backfield with an idea of giving the Terrors something to chase. Alden Herlache, Mike Powers, Bob Kluchski and Loyal Dessart all are fast, but haven't had too many games under their belts. Of the group, Herlache is a junior and the other, three sophomores.

Appleton tipped over Menasha St. Mary's with ease last Saturday, but didn't look too smooth in doing it. This doesn't fool Cahoon, as the Terrors were upset by Sheboygan last season, only to come back fighting like demons against West. For some reason, Appleton always looks its hottest against the Wildcats.

Wen Last Season
Coach Tom Hearden of East is not looking for a repetition of last year's 29 to 0 victory over Marinette, particularly in view of the fact that the Red Devils are playing on the Marines' home field, and he will settle for a much smaller score. East looked good against Madison East, but not necessarily like a champion, and the coach welcomes the second non-conference game in a row as a chance to get a line on his material.

There will be two other Valley conference engagements this week-end, as firing opens all along the line. Fond du Lac is booked at Sheboygan Friday night, while Oshkosh will play at Manitowish Saturday afternoon. East will be the only team without a conference appearance when the week-end is completed. The Red Devils launch their regular season the following Saturday at Fond du Lac.

Scrimmage Slated For Hilltop Team

Bakula Does Passing; Opening Game Saturday With Ripon

MILWAUKEE —(AP)—The Marquette university football squad was booked for a scrimmage session today in preparation for the season's opener here Saturday with Ripon college.

It was the last double-barreled program of the fall training season. Classes, which begin tomorrow, cut workout from two to one a day. The Hilltoppers went through their longest forward pass drill of the season yesterday, with aerial offense and defense stressed.

Andy Bakula, quarterback from Marquette High school, bore the brunt of the throwing duties. Colonel Betz, Sioux City, Ia., halfback, and Johnny Maltich, Milwaukee, quarterback, helped him. Scoring passes were caught by ends Frank Mickelits, Everett, Minn., Jim Cooper and Bill Stiefel, Milwaukee, and by backs Ray Sonnenberg, Milwaukee, and Bill Lotzer, Fond du Lac.

MENASHA HIGH GRID LEADERS DISCUSS NEXT OPPONENT
Menasha High school football team will make its first home start Friday night at Butte des Morts field against Milwaukee East Division and as the invaders are the ranking team in Milwaukee, the Menashans will have a job. The above picture was taken the other afternoon when Coach Nathan Calder of the Bluejays gathered his co-captains around him and they discussed plans for the battle. The leaders are Alvin Kolesinski, a halfback, on the left, and Eldon Grimm, tackle, in the center. East won last week, 19 to 7, from Shorewood, while Menasha was walloping Clintonville, 31 to 0. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Hawkeyes' First Game Saturday Is Troubling Tubbs

Iowa Goes to Seattle to Battle Strong Washington Huskies

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO —(AP)—He hasn't holered for sympathy, but Ira I. Tubbs, Iowa's new football coach, might well be doing a little low moaning over the opening day task of his Hawkeyes.

All the Hawkeyes have to do Saturday when they make their bow under their new teacher is tackle the University of Washington, 1935 Pacific coast conference champions, at Seattle, a job inherited by Tubbs when he succeeded Ossie Solem. Against the Huskies, rated as no worse than an even bet to retain their league laurels, Tubbs will send a squad which includes 13 lettermen, only five of which were considered regulars on last year's mediocre eleven, all of which added up to a tough prospect for his first official look at his team.

At Minnesota, where Bernie Bierman is preparing to try out the power of his 1937 Golden Gophers against North Dakota State college Saturday, scrimmage was called off yesterday because of 85 degree weather. Bierman devoted the time to forward passing and shifting his backs.

Although a long offensive scrimmage produced steady gains by the varsity, Coach Earl Ewing was dissatisfied with the work of his Purdue squad in preparation for Saturday's opener with Butler, and Bo McMillin, at Indiana, searched for end talent to round out the line which will start against Centre college this week.

A leg injury suffered by Pete Gales, 205-pound guard, marred a dummy scrimmage session at Ohio State, while Coach Harry Kipke of Michigan, was forced to postpone a scrimmage because of a scarcity of uninjured backs.

Ohio university plays puzzled Illinois regulars for nearly an hour before a solution was discovered. At Northwestern, Lynn Waldorf moved Jack Major, a halfback, to the blocking back position to bolster his reserve power.

Ladies Bowling Loop Being Organized at 'Y'

Three teams have signed up for a ladies league at the Y. M. C. A. bowling alleys and five more will be added. Ray Risch, physical director, said today.

Being organized this year for the first time, the 'Y' ladies league will start its season early in October and will bowl two nights a week, with shifts at 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock. The three alleys at the 'Y' have been reconducted, the apparatus improved, and new lighting fixtures installed.

Bays, Kaukauna Clash Next Sunday Afternoon

GREEN BAY — With a game apiece to their credit in the Northern State league championship series, the Green Sox and Kaukauna Brewers will cross bats here Sunday afternoon in the deciding game at Sox park at 2:30.

The Electric City Brewers upset the dope Sunday night when they goose-egged the Bays, 2 to 0, in the second game of the series. The Sox capped the opening title fray at Kaukauna, 3 to 1. Incidentally, the Kaukauna victory was the first time this season that the Bays were dipped in the whitewash bucket.

Johnny Rowe is still talking to himself about Baldy Eggert's circuit swat in the seventh frame with Rader on base. This sewed up the game for the invaders. The count was against Eggert and Rowe at-tempted to zig a fast curve against the batting champion of the Northern State league. The ball didn't break as expected and Eggert connected solidly. The last seen of the ball it was sailing in the direction of the Packers' practice field.

Both teams are pulling for fair weather Sunday. The outlook is bright for the largest crowd that has witnessed a baseball game in Green Bay in years.

Howard Bowers, manager of the Kaukauna club, said that some 500 fans from down the valley would be here Sunday. Bowers was much disappointed that the third game was not at Kaukauna, but the clubs agreed to play the crucial combat in the city which drew the biggest crowd at the two preceding games. The cash receipts here Sunday night were considerably larger than at Kaukauna Sept. 12.

Think Setup 'Natural'
The Sox executives think the setup Sunday is a natural. The Packers have an open date and a goodly number of football enthusiasts are certain to take in the baseball combat and swell the crowd of loyal fans who have been supporting the Sox all through the season in their race towards Pennantville.

Arrangements for a Northern State league roundup at the Beau hotel after the ball game practically have been completed. The final business session of the year will be sandwiched in between the dinner and refreshments.

Vice President Bernard J. Neumann, Two Rivers, will preside in the absence of President Arthur Schuetz, mayor of Manitowish, who still is confined in a Milwaukee hospital.

Vanderloop Resigns As Baseball Manager
Little Chute—George Vanderloop, who managed the Little Chute Legion entry in the Northern State league this season, and the same club in the Valley league last year, has resigned because of other activities. No successor has been named. Vanderloop will continue to be connected with the club handling advertising and assisting whenever he has the time. Al "Whitey" Langedyke, has been mentioned as a possible successor.

HOPFENBERGER bowlers lost two games to the Elks team in the Elks Ladies league in games rolled last night on the Elks alleys, but their lone victory was enough to throw the race for the top position open to three more teams. The Elks team dropped into a tie for first place with the Kloehn, Polka Dot Beauty shop and Pettibones bowlers.

G. Femal spilled counts of 169, 181 and 180 pins as she led the Hopfenberger scoring, while H. Miller had a 188 game and 497 series for top Elks scores. D. Eben turned in a 188 game for the Hoppy squad. H. Mignon hit counts of 187 and 185 pins for a 534 series, and L. Van Heuklon spilled a 202 game and 491 series as the O. R. Kloehn company team won three games from the Hamm's. High Hamm scores were H. Hamm's 176 and 488 scores.

Pettibones were kept in the race for the lead post as H. Kunitz spilled a 190 game and 540 series. M. Tilly shot a 215 game and 503 count to lead Petts to three straight wins over the F. W. Woolworth company. High Woolworth scores were L. Black's 192 and 492 totals. L. Lueders toppled games of 190, 194 and 189 pins for a 580 series to lead the Polka Dot Beauty shop to a triple win over Ulrichs. L. Bolte spilled a 193 game and 506 series to top Ulrich scoring.

Sunnyside Floral company downed the Geenens bowlers in two games. L. Uetzmann leading the way with a 175 game and 467 series. R. Meyer also shot a 175 game for the Florals. High Geenens scores were L. Sager's 159 game and 458 total. Copper Kettles came through with two wins over the Lutz Coolerators as M. Griesbach spilled a 207 game and 545 series. Wassman's 148 and 435 counts were high for the Coolerators.

L. Klebenow's 191 and 540 scores were high for the Fashion Shop bowlers, but they dropped two games to Brandt, who were led by A. Hartzheim with a 188 game and 543 series. L. Heckert shot a 192 game for Brandt. Adler Brau, led by G. Koerner with a 233 game and 509 series turned the Log Mills back twice. B. Smith's 174 and K. Engler's 486 counts were high for the Log Mills.

Ellyn's Beauty shop bowlers pounded the maples to sweep the 3-game match with J. C. Penney squad. E. Beck rapped a 190 game and 541 series and K. Dame slapped the pins for a 200 count and 526 series, while J. Podler had a 521 count for the winners. D. Clark toppled a 202 game and 512 series to lead the Penney scoring.

Jordan Prepares for St. Viator's Eleven

Menominee—The Jordan football team began its first preparation for its all-important game with the fast-moving St. Viator's team here Sunday afternoon. The game will be played at Lawrence Stadium at Marinette, and will start at 2 o'clock sharp.

The Angels have plenty of pep and drive after their first game of the season. They all came through the Duluth game with but few minor bruises and are looking forward to meeting the championship St. Viator's team with interest.

The team spent a long period of work against the Menominee High school team yesterday afternoon in an effort to improve the defensive work of the squad as a whole. Many weaknesses that were apparent in Saturday's battle were corrected and it is hoped that the squad will present an airtight defense when it meets the Green Wave from Keweenaw, Ill.

Greentree, Westbury In Polo Title Match

New York—The Greentree polo team will bid again for the national championship today against Old Westbury at International field, Westbury, with the same quartet which carried it to the championship in 1935 and 1936. If Greentree wins it will be the first team to take three straight titles.

Packer Coach Certain That His Team Will 'Click' Soon

GREEN BAY — Coach E. L. Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers yesterday gathered up the loose ends of his football team and began to look forward, not without some misgivings, to the not-too-gentle Detroit Lions, scheduled for a booking at City stadium Sunday afternoon, Oct. 3.

The Packers are smarting under three consecutive defeats. The Lions are rated the toughest team at present in the National Professional league's Western division.

Lambeau's comments yesterday were terse.

"We naturally have made many mistakes in our first three games," he said. "We are not playing championship football. Yet, I believe the Packers are a great team, and that they can and will win."

Feeling Is Different

"I feel much differently about these last two defeats than I did about the All Star game in Chicago. Against the Cardinals and Bears the men really were trying. They made mistakes, but they worked hard and tried their best to win."

The answer apparently is that the Packers, who came from nowhere last season to win the National championship, haven't as yet shaken their title complex. Even many of the Green Bay fans admit that they have not felt the same thrill of anticipation concerning the team.

PUTTING

WILL RAISE CLUBHEAD ABRUPTLY

LET LEFT ARM MOVE FORWARD WITH STROKE

INSURES FLATTER ARC

USE LOW TRAVELLING PUTTING STROKE

The trouble with the pendulum method of putting is that it is impossible to consistently achieve even a good imitation of the true pendulum motion, i. e., as the clock. The abrupt arc of this kind of stroke makes it imperative that the ball must be struck on the down blow for greatest accuracy. If one waits until the stroke is rising before impact, there are two drawbacks, one the ball may be topped by the rapidly ascending clubhead and two, it may lack sufficient momentum to stroke the ball properly. To hit the ball accurately under such circumstances is next to impossible, the clubhead would have to cut through the turf and rise without feeling this drag on the putter blade.

A truer stroke, and more pleasing results, can be obtained by letting the body figure in the stroke as opposed to the wrist only pendulum motion. For example there may be a perceptible transference of weight back and forth as the stroke is made. There is no halt called on the left wrist so that it, in turn with slight bodily aid, can keep the clubhead travelling along in a comparatively flat arc.

Provided there is a comfortably wide backswing this formula will keep the putter-head travelling close to the ground for a considerable distance. The ball may be in any point within this range and still have an excellent chance of being struck accurately enough to drop into the cup. It lessens the chances of error by number of inches in the stroke, an advantage worth taking where so many putts can be missed even when the greatest pains are taken.

Cleveland Rams Overwhelm Eagles 21-3 in Pro Tilt

Snyder-Drake Combination Produces Two Ram Touchdowns

CHICAGO—(1)—The Cleveland Rams, baby member of the National Professional Football league, have wasted little time in acquiring their first victory in the circuit.

The Rams, who took a 28 to 0 beating from Detroit's Lions in their opening test Sept. 10, bounced back last night with a lively passing attack featuring Bob Snyder and John Drake, to whip the Philadelphia Eagles, 21 to 3. The Eagles took the lead in the second period on Dave Smukler's 12-yard field goal, but Cleveland overcame it in the same session and added two more touchdowns in the final quarter.

Snyder flipped a 13-yard pass to Drake who ran 25 yards to score the first touchdown, and the same combination accounted for the first of the two fourth-period scores. Harry Matkos completed a pass to Joe Keeble for a 42-yard gain to finish the scoring.

PIRATES GAIN GROUND

The Pittsburgh Pirates made an early bid for team offensive honors in the National Football league for the current season by leading the other nine clubs in yardage gained, forward passing, and scoring in the first week of play, according to statistics released today.

Leading the Eastern division of the National league with two victories and no defeats, the Pirates gained 665 yards, completed 38 out of 44 passes for a 61 per cent average and tallied 48 points. Detroit, in front in the Western division, has the best defensive record, having held opponents to 179 yards and 7 points in two games.

Play Quoits Finals At School Thursday

Finals in the senior and junior divisions of the high school horse-shoe tournament will be played Thursday and, in the sophomore division, Monday, school authorities said today.

E. Jensen and L. Shebleke will meet Wednesday to decide who will toss quoits against B. Fisher, who has reached the semi-finals. K. Lausman met E. Arndt in the other bracket yesterday.

Junior division semi-finals will be played Wednesday. J. Block and E. Ecker will tangle as will W. Zapp and J. Block. Finals will be played Thursday.

Records Fall on Utah Salt Flats

Accidents Don't Stop Ab Jenkins and His 'Mormon Meteor'

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah—(1)—Ab Jenkins, his left arm cut and bandaged, hurled his "Mormon Meteor" around a 12 1/2 mile salt course today, hot in pursuit of new world speed records.

Two accidents failed to deter the Utah speed king.

His left arm was cut by bits of metal torn from a rear wheel when a tire gave way. An hour before that accident the car struck a soft spot while traveling 180 miles an hour and went into a careening, half-mile slide.

Lou Meyer, veteran Indianapolis speed driver, relieved Jenkins for three hours after his injury and continued to "spell" him at intervals today.

New world land speed records were established each hour and each 500 miles. Among the major marks achieved thus far:

12-hour run, 160 miles an hour; 3,000 kilometers, 161.4 miles an hour; 2,000 miles, 160.07 miles an hour. Most of the marks he shattered were the ones he himself established here last year.

Wegner Probably Lost to Badgers

End Hasn't Reported Since Suffering Slight Concussion

Madison—(1)—A long but uneventful drill ended the two-day University of Wisconsin football practice, and with the start of the school session today, only one afternoon workout will be held.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher said some changes would be made if Ed Wegner, Cudahy sophomore end, is unable to play in the opening game Saturday against South Dakota State. Wegner suffered a slight concussion last Thursday. He has not reported for practice since then.

Ralph Moeller, Watertown, now performing at right half, will be shifted to end and Pat Kinney, Packwaukee quarterback, and Bronko Malesevich, Mayville, reserve fullback, will be inserted in Moeller's halfback spot.

The entire squad drilled long but not hard yesterday, due to the extreme heat. Punting, place-kicking and passing topped the day's work with a fast signal drill concluding the activities.

Five sophomores wrote examinations yesterday but their papers had not been graded.

Sheboygan Nine Faces Oklahoma Squad Today

Battle Creek, Mich.—(1)—The Bottoms Up club of Sheboygan, Wis., was scheduled to meet Ada, Okla., today in the "amateur world series" of the American baseball congress.

Each of the teams has lost one tournament game. Sheboygan was conquered by Battle Creek Steel and Wire, 8 to 1, and Ada lost to Fresno, 6 to 5.

Fresno and the Wires, only undefeated teams in the meet, clash today.

Plan Interclass Swim Meet for High School

The annual interclass swimming meet for seniors, juniors and sophomores of Appleton High school will be held at Alexander gymnasium next week, Coach Joseph Shields said today.

Captains and teams will be chosen from each class which will compete for intramural points. Included on the list of events to be held will be: 25-yard breast stroke, 25-yard back stroke, 25-yard free style, 50-yard breast, 50-yard back, 50-yard free style, 100-yard free style relay, a 75-yard medley to include the back, breast and free style strokes, diving events and a pigeon race.

McIntyre Warns Dads Not to Force Sons Into Sports

Post-Crescent Sports Editor Is Speaker at Lions Club Meeting

Neenah — Gordon R. McIntyre, sports editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, urged fathers not to insist that their sons compete in sports just to satisfy their own personal ambitions when their offspring show no inclination or desire for sports when he talked at a noon meeting of the Neenah Lions club Tuesday at the Valley Inn.

McIntyre also explained to the members of the club the setup of the Appleton Post-Crescent and newspapers in general. He discussed the sports department of a newspaper and gave the sports editor's angle on coverage of sports events.

The writer related incidents where fathers anxiously waited from the time of their sons' births until they reached high school age to see their boys become heroes by winning games in football, basketball and football.

"When their offsprings showed signs they had no desire to play the games, the fathers insisted and urged them to continue reporting for practices. When the boys failed to make the grade the parents were extremely disappointed," the sports editor said.

"This also had an effect upon the boys," he pointed out. "When they couldn't make the team they were in for a lot of 'ribbing' both at school and at home from parents as well as younger brothers," he added.

In discussing the setup of the Post-Crescent he explained that the newspaper circulates over an area of 50 square miles and has a circulation of more than 17,500, 2,500 of which is in the Twin Cities.

The editorial department is divided into three separate departments, which are supervised by the city editor, state and telegraph editor and sports editor. A fourth department is being inaugurated into the setup, the photography department.

He added that the Post-Crescent will soon have its own engraving plant which will allow for more local pictures.

McIntyre said the sport he likes best to watch is track, adding that he has experienced his greatest thrills in watching running races. He termed track a contest of individuals with victory depending entirely upon contestants' own ability rather than team play.

The sports scribe talked briefly on the football season, adding that he could not explain the emphasis peculiar to the game.

Paving Project to Be Finished Soon

Only Curbs, Gutters Remain in Commercial Street Job

Neenah — In 10 days, construction of the N. Commercial street paving project will be completed, according to A. G. Prunescu, city engineer, "providing, of course, we don't run into any bad weather," he added.

With the main section of the new street which serves as Highway 41 as well as the connection between the Twin Cities finished, there are only curbs and gutters to be completed.

The engineer said that pouring of concrete for curbs and gutters will start Wednesday morning, although there is a slight possibility that the work may start this afternoon. Once the crew of men are trained in laying curbs and gutters it will not take long to finish that part of the project.

Pouring of concrete for curbs and gutters will start on the east side of the street at N. Water street. The first stretch of curb and gutter space has been clear of debris and forms have been placed.

Falcon Golfers Will Play in Tournament
Neenah — The Falcon club will turn its athletic endeavors to golf with the first annual golf tournament scheduled for next Sunday at Ridgeway Golf club. Medal play will determine the championship in order to complete the contest in one day. Play is scheduled to start at 12:30.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE
Neenah — Mrs. F. E. R. Bishop, social case worker for the Neenah chapter of the American Red Cross, attended the annual conference of the Wisconsin Association of Public Welfare Officials held Friday and Saturday at Lake Flambeau.

Work Progressing on Menasha Sewer Projects

Menasha—Sewer installations are being made in various parts of the city by G. R. Fehr, Inc. of Milwaukee. The work is part of the Works Progress Administration program.

Workers are now laying the pipe on the north half of the 600 block on Manitowish street. Two crews are working on DePere street. One group is placing the pipe between First and Second streets while another is working at the south half of the 600 block on DePere street.

Work on DePere street from Paris to First street has been completed while the stretch between Manitowish and DePere on Fifth has been completed.

Milwaukee East, Menasha to Meet In Night Battle

Invaders Have Edge on Basis of Victory Records

Menasha—Teams with two powerful offensive records and equally impressive defensive records in their respective conferences will meet Friday night when Milwaukee East Division High school opposes the Menasha High school on the Butte des Morts field under the lights.

On comparative figures, the Milwaukee team has an edge. East will be trying for its thirty-third victory in 35 games since 1932. Friday night, The Orange team has lost only two games in the last five years. Coach B. E. Heselson's team won 31 consecutive games, from the middle of the 1931 season through 1935, losing the first game of the 1936 season, a non-conference encounter. During the past five years the Orange teams have scored 743 points to a total of 92 for their opponents.

Record books for the past 10 seasons show Milwaukee leading in the schools of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. The Bluejays have won 38 games, lost 13 and tied 7 for a 74.5 percentage. During the past six years the Calder-coached teams have lost only five games and been tied three times.

Against all opponents the Menasha teams have scored 32 victories, have lost 7 games and been tied four times in the past six seasons. Neither their offensive nor defensive record is quite as strong as that of the Milwaukee school. While East scored 743 points in five seasons, the Caldermen accounted for 737 points in six years. On defense the margin is quite decidedly for East. Milwaukee allowed only 92 points while Menasha has 241 points chalked against its defensive record.

Practice was held last night under the lights on Butte des Morts field. The starting lineup for the Milwaukee game will probably be the same as that which started against Clintonville. The Milwaukee line will have slight advantage over the Bluejays while the backfields will be about on a par as to weight.

Standings of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference based upon records of the last 10 years are given below:

Team	W. L. T. Pct.
Menasha	38 13 7 .745
Kaukauna	36 13 5 .734
West DePere	36 21 5 .530

Further Celebration Of Anniversary Studied

Neenah—Although nothing definite has been planned for a climax or interspersing program for the United States constitution sesquicentennial celebration it has been suggested by the committee in charge of the 12-year celebration to climax the event with a program featured by a nationally prominent speaker, Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs said today.

When and if the program will be held has not been decided, but the possibility of carrying out such an event was enhanced by the opening celebration program last Friday at the Neenah High school. There was such a large turnout and expression of appreciation for the initial event so that the committee feels that other programs will be as well received by the people of the city.

An elm tree was planted and dedicated to the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution and a marker was erected in honor of the event.

First Aid Training Features Guard Drill

Neenah—First aid training and squad practice comprised the weekly drill of Company I, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National guards, held at the S. A. Cook Armory Tuesday night.

Captain Fred Miller announced during the drill that indoor range firing will be started at next Tuesday night's session under the supervision of Sergeants William Blank and Elmer Burr.

Order Study of Traffic Problem On River Street

Alderman Sauter Terms Situation Menace To Life

Menasha — The traffic problem on River street where it intersects with Tayco and Washington streets was termed a menace to life last night by Alderman Earl Sauter at the meeting of the city council.

Traffic there, already heavy with inter-city travelers, is further complicated by the loading and unloading of large trucks and railroad cars.

Alderman M. J. Grode, president of the council, appointed Aldermen Earl Sauter and C. J. Oberweiser to confer on the problem with City Attorney Edward C. McKenzie, Police Chief Alex Slomski and Harold Smith, department superintendent of the Marathon Paper Mills company.

A claim by Mrs. J. J. Le Bouton for $10 damage when her minor son was injured on a city playground was referred to the city attorney.

Bernard Spilski was granted a permit to remodel his building on Racine street upon recommendation of the city planning commission. Jerry Heup was granted a taxi permit for Menasha Motor Cab for 1937.

The street committee was authorized to readvertise for bids for the sale of the house owned by the city at the intersection of Mathewson and Garfield streets. The house must be removed from the lot by the bidder.

The city fathers will meet next Sunday morning to have their pictures taken for the Menasha high school annual.

A report on the Wisconsin League of Municipalities convention, which was attended by the council and city officers at Fond du Lac, was made by City Attorney McKenzie. He termed the attorneys' sessions as "very instructive." Bicycle ordinances have been very effective in cities where they were tried out, he said. M. J. Grode commented on the speech of Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin and former city manager of Cincinnati.

900 Pupils to Get Diphtheria Tests

Work Probably Will Start Next Month, City Nurse Says

Neenah — Miss L. Evelyn Scholl, city nurse, reported today that plans are being made to give more than 900 school children the Shick test for diphtheria.

The work probably will not start until next month by which time permission slips will be sent to students' parents and returned. Explanation and purpose of the tests will be sent to parents with the slips.

Although most of the students in Neenah schools have been given treatment recently for the prevention of diphtheria there has been no check made since 1932 to determine whether the diphtheria treatments were successful, Miss Scholl said.

The purpose of the Shick test is to find out whether the students are still susceptible to the diphtheria germ. A drop of serum is placed on the outer layer of skin on the children's arms, and if there is a reaction to the serum a control test is made to check on the serum test.

In this way a double check is made to actually find out whether they are immune or otherwise to the diphtheria germ. If the students are susceptible to diphtheria they will be given another treatment.

There will be no tuberculin tests given in the schools this fall, for that part of the health program will take place in the spring, Miss Scholl added.

City to Buy Pipe for Seventh Street Sewer

Menasha—City Clerk Walter J. Dougherty was authorized to purchase sewer pipe for the completion of the Seventh street sewer project from the Jesse Fuel company at $1.55 a foot less 4 per cent.

The meeting of the city council last night. The authorization was the result of negotiations with the WPA to determine who would furnish the pipe necessary to complete the project. The necessary 700 feet of pipe will cost about $1200.

Alderman Clement Newcomb, chairman of the street committee, stated that the funds for the pipe would come from the street department budget and not the general fund. He stated that unexpected costs similar to this one had reduced the budget but that there was about $16,000 left to carry the department through to the end of the year. Between $30,000 and $35,000 has been spent since April 1.

Hesselman Resigns as Co-Editor of Annual

Neenah — Jack Hesselman has resigned as co-editor of the Neenah High school annual, according to Marvin Olsen, faculty advisor to the yearbook staff. A successor has not been selected as yet. Mr. Olsen will be assisted as advisor by Lawrence Blume, who will have charge of the finances, and Carl Christensen and Al Poellinger who will supervise the art work. The English department will also assist in editing the annual.

St. Mary Eleven To Meet St. John Gridders Sunday

Coach Miller May Revise Lineup for Conference Game

Menasha—Pointing out errors of both commission and omission, Coach Marvin Miller gave his St. Mary High school squad a strenuous drill Monday in preparation for the game with St. John High school of Little Chute next Sunday afternoon at the Butte des Morts field. The squad came through the Appleton game with only a few injuries and Clayton Hopfensperger, halfback upon whom much of the running attack depended, has returned after being out with an ankle injury.

A revised lineup will probably be presented for the next game and Coach Miller is making several changes to find the best possible combination. Co-captain Dave Spalding, who was tried at an end post, will probably return to his old position at tackle. Harold Laux showed ability at snaring passes in the drill Monday.

The St. John team is not being taken lightly by the St. Mary squad, particularly in view of the victory the Little Chute team scored over St. Catherine's at Racine, co-holder of the Catholic conference crown.

The drill Monday included a strenuous session of tackling, in which the St. Mary gridders appeared weak at times Saturday. Long passes proved the most effective weapon of the Zephyrs and will be used again, with LeYoung on the tossing end.

Grant Tavern License And Operator's Permit

Menasha—A class B tavern license and a tavern operator's license were granted by the city council at their session last night.

Both applications were approved by H. O. Haugh, health officer, and Police Chief Alex Slomski. The tavern permit was to Pawlowski and Mrochinski for 282 1/2 Tayco street and the operator's permit to Ernest Weber, Jr. Granting of the tavern license was opposed by Aldermen Sauter, Zeininger and Newcomb upon the grounds that too many permits were being issued by the council.

Police Chief Will Go To Wausau Convention

Menasha — Police Chief Alex Slomski will attend the thirtieth annual Wisconsin Chiefs of Police association convention at Wausau Sept. 29 and 30. The city council last night voted to pay the chief's expenses at the convention.

Red Rockets Will Play First Home Game Saturday

Neenah Eleven to Seek Second Victory of Season Against Messmer

Neenah — After serving notice on other teams in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference that they will be making an application for the football title this season when they defeated New London, 7 to 0, last Saturday at New London, the Neenah High school gridders will move out of conference competition this Saturday for their first home game of the season.

The Red Rockets will be moving into fast company as far as state high school football teams are concerned when they clash with the Messmer football eleven from Milwaukee.

Despite its 7 to 0 defeat last Saturday by South Division High, Milwaukee, the Messmer club will be no pushover. According to advance notices, Messmer will put a strong team on the Neenah gridiron Saturday which will be enhanced by an exceptionally fine passing attack.

Rehearse Defense

Coach George Christoph is preparing his men to offset Messmer's aerial maneuvers. Tuesday night the grid mentor drilled his men in tackling with the backfield getting some running practice. This afternoon he sent his crew through a light scrimmage session and Thursday night he will concentrate on forward pass defense.

An assembly was held for the Neenah High school students at 9:50 this morning when they were informed of the ticket sale drive for the initial home grid conflict of the season.

The students were given tickets which they are to sell. A special booster program is planned to precede the conflict and will include a flag raising ceremony and special maneuvers by the Neenah High school 75-piece band. The Redmen will make their first appearance in new uniforms for the first home game.

Fresh Will Be Guests At Annual School Mixer

Menasha—The first social event of the Menasha high school season will be the annual mixer Saturday evening at the Butte des Morts gymnasium. Freshmen will be guests and only Menasha high school students will be admitted. A program of games, dancing and refreshments has been arranged. The party will start at 8 o'clock and continue to 11:15.

High School Classes Will Elect Officers

Neenah — Election of class officers at the Neenah High school will start next week, according to John Holzman, principal.

The elections which will be conducted by the citizenship classes will be held in the gymnasium. Four ballot boxes will be placed there and ballots will be distributed to the students.

Students in the various classes are circulating nomination papers.

Auto Accidents in County Approach Total for All 1936

Statistician Lists 378 Crashes With 18 Killed to Date

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—Co-incidental with the liberation of an auto accident report for Winnebago County through September 18, 1937, Floyd L. Wright, statistician for the county safety traffic council, pointed out the total of auto accidents to date is just two less than for the entire year of 1936.

In 1936 there were 390 auto accidents in Winnebago County with 19 fatalities, 273 persons injured and 442 cars damaged. Through September 18, 1937, Mr. Wright said, there have been 378 auto accidents, just two under last year's total. There have been 16 persons killed to date in 1937, with 252 injured and 463 cars damaged.

In September, 1937, through September 18, there have been 3 auto accidents with 31 persons injured and 4 cars damaged. Last year in the same time there were only 24 auto accidents with 12 persons injured and only one killed.

To illustrate the vast increase in accidents in Winnebago County over 1936, Mr. Wright said that compared to the 378 accidents listed in 1937, there were only 245 auto accidents listed last year in the same period of time. Compared to the 252 persons injured in 1937, there were only 177 injured last year. And compared to the 18 persons killed in 1937, there were two less, or 1 killed last year through September 18.

Order Committee To Determine Cost Of Street Project

Action Follows Another Discussion at Council Session

Menasha—The proposed opening of a street between Appleton and DePere streets from Sixth street to Seventh street again came up for a lengthy discussion at the meeting of the city council with no other action than to refer it to a committee, this time to report back at the next meeting with an estimate of the probable cost.

Residents in that section have requested the opening of the street and the land necessary except one. That one is Pakalski who would have to move his home. Robert Herring approved at the meeting and offered the city a lot on which to move the Pakalski home in return for sewer and curb for another lot which he owns there. Pakalski, also at the meeting, said he wants the city to move his home from the present location to a foundation on the other lot. He said he has paid for sewer and sidewalk assessments but has been denied a permit to tap in the sewer.

Alderman Sauter moved that Pakalski and Akstulewicz be granted permits to tap in the sewer on Seventh street. Alderman Newcomb pointed out that it would probably cost more to run the sewer in than to open the street. The motion lost on a 5 to 4 vote.

Alderman Philip Michalekiewicz presented a motion authorizing the street committee to proceed with the opening but withdrew it when it was suggested that an estimate of the cost be made. Akstulewicz has a home in the block which would face on the new street. He has been denied permission to tap into the Seventh street sewer also, it was stated.

Property owners in the Second ward, through their attorney, offered land to the city necessary for the opening of Seventh street from Milwaukee street to Tayco street for $2,500. The council voted to refuse the offer and to proceed with the condemnation proceedings. The land is owned by William F. Ebel, Anna Bayer, and Amos Page.

Holzman Talks on School Guidance

Neenah High School Principal Addresses Teachers

Neenah—John Holzman, Neenah high school principal, conducted a discussion on trends and recommendations in guidance at a teachers meeting held Tuesday night at the High school.

Everything is done to guide the students into their right vocation, the principal pointed out. Starting with the eighth grade students, the superintendent informs them of the various courses of study, and when they register as freshmen with the principal their interests and ambitions are discussed and evaluated.

The desirability of choosing their life work early is stressed, Holzman explained. Throughout the year the students are requested to consult their teachers about their problems, and the teachers are required to point out vocational possibilities in the fields with which they are familiar. Individual conferences are also held for students who are failing.

Other means used to assist pupils in choosing the right vocation include conferences between the principal and graduates at which the aim is to guide students into the type of work for which they are most fitted and in which they are most interested, securing professional service of Chester Sanford, an expert on guidance, intelligence tests for freshmen, aptitude tests for sophomores and seniors, and achievement tests are also given at various times.

The Neenah Kiwanis club has taken an interest in guidance work and has contributed money at various times for the purchase of books on the subject, Holzman concluded.

Neenah Boatmen to Attend Hearing on Harbor Proposal

Neenah—A large number of Neenah boatmen are expected to attend the hearing to be conducted by the war department Oct. 25 at Oshkosh on the proposed harbor in Miller's bay. The hearing will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Oshkosh city hall.

Because of the importance of the project to boating in general on Lake Winnebago it is expected that boatmen from Neenah, Appleton and Fond du Lac will attend and take part in the public hearing.

Although the harbor plan is essentially an Oshkosh asset it is also desired by boatmen throughout the valley for boat owners in Neenah, Appleton, Fond du Lac and other cities located on the Fox and Wolf waterway want harbor facilities for safe anchorage at Oshkosh, it was pointed out.

A harbor of this kind is also needed as a storm refuge for boats using Lake Winnebago, it was said. The purpose of the hearing is to enable the war department engineers to determine whether the harbor is desired by the citizens of Oshkosh and other Fox River valley cities. The engineers have recommended that the project would be carried through with federal funds.

Ringers Take Lead in Banta Girls' League

Menasha—The Ringers took the lead in the Banta girls' bowling league at the Hendy alleys last night by taking three straight games from the Vikings on counts of 769, 726 and 767 for a 2,263 total to 670, 681, 674 and 2,025 for the Vikings. M. Lobb had the high game of the evening with a 203 and her 536 total paced the winners.

The Bouncers took two of three games from the Keglers although K. Kelly rolled a 547 high series for the evening for the losers. The Bouncers had games of 713, 758 and 648 for 2,119 to 665, 688 and 692 for 2,045 for the Keglers. H. Crawford had a 202 for the winners.

New London—The Bowlby Candies of this city defeated Petcka's Bar bowling team of Clintonville, 2,559 to 2,401 in a practice session of the Waupaca County Classic Bowling league at Prah's alleys last night. The Tripod Chevrolets of Clintonville beat the Knapstein Bows of this city 2,713 to 2,607.

Teams were not complete with regular bowlers for the practice tilt. Walter Stewart topped the crowd with a 579 series in games of 184, 187 and 208, Dutch Much rolled 535 and C. Polaski 533 with a 212 game. Leading the visitors were Dan Wulke with 558 series and 221 game, Gaston with 557 series, Schaefer 555, Heuer 547, all for the Tripod Chevies. Petcka led his squad with a 515 and 303 high.

Wausau and Marion also have teams entered in the league and official play is expected to begin the first week of October.

Cedar Lawns Win

William Eggers led the Cedar Lawn Dairies to a 2-game win over Mike's Taverns in a make-up game in the Goodfellowship league last night when he pounded a 578 series in games of 182, 173 and 223. Harold Shirland backed him up with a high 568 total in games of 183, 225 and 159. Hugo Bachman rolled a 3-game total of 552 to add to the team record of 2,650. Ted Ebert paced the losers with a 526 series.

The match results: Cedar Lawn Dairies (2) 838 788 284-2659 Mike Taverns (1) 843 765 803-2412

State Engineers To Study Need of New London Span

Commissioner Says Project Is Close to Top of Priority List

New London—Proceedings will be started at once by the state highway commission to determine the need of a new bridge over the Wolf river at S. Pearl street, officials of this city were assured by Thomas Davlin, chairman of the highway commission, at the conclusion of a hearing at the city hall here yesterday morning.

State engineers will be sent here in the very near future to make their own inspection of the bridge and from their report the evidence presented at the hearing yesterday the commission will decide on the future of the bridge here. Davlin said. It is expected the question will be decided within the next several weeks. The cost would be borne by state and federal funds.

Davlin pointed out that the highway department is well aware of the need of new bridges on its state highways as many new roads have been laid and the old bridges left to carry the increased traffic. The situation is common all over the state but the condition of the Pearl street bridge here has always been recognized by the commission and stands close to the top of the priority list, Davlin encouraged. One year's highway appropriation could well be spent on bridges alone, he said.

Present Evidence

At least 40 prominent business men of the city assembled for the hearing in support of the city's plea. Evidence was presented for the city by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt; City Attorney Giles H. Putnam; Street Superintendent Albert Gessé; Jess Thomas, engineer; Charles F. Larson, Waupaca County highway commissioner.

Members of the state department present were Thomas Davlin, chairman of the commission; Thomas J. Pattison, secretary; and William E. O'Brien, C. H. Kirck, bridge engineer; and W. J. Haseltin, district engineer from Wisconsin Rapids. The city was complimented on an intelligent manner in which its case was presented.

The mayor reviewed a short history of both the Pearl street and Door street bridges, pointing out that both were too narrow for modern traffic needs. He also pointed out the financial condition of the city to show the inability of the city to undertake any part of the burden.

Offers Report

City Attorney Putnam offered as evidence the report of Jess Thomas, local engineer, who inspected the bridge for the city. According to the report the piling foundation of the bridge is rotting away and stone abutments are cracked and weakened and the bridge as a whole is unsafe for heavy traffic. The replacement of the south approach with steel concrete-filled tubes several years ago was explained by Superintendent Gessé.

The city attorney submitted photographs to bear out the statements in regard to the understructure of the bridge and presented figures of a 10-day traffic count to show the volume of traffic handled by both bridges. Charles Larson voiced support of the claims made by the city.

Putnam complained to the commissioners that many heavy trucks which exceed the posted weight limit frequently cross the bridge and are a constant menace to the safety of the bridge. It was suggested that heavy trucks be routed over the Door street bridge, at least temporarily, and the state engineer promised to investigate the possibilities of such a procedure.

The Madison visitors were guests of the city officials at dinner at the Elwood hotel.

Gridders Prepare For DePere Tilt

Coach to Direct First Practice Under Lights Tonight

New London—New London High school griders are working hard this week in preparation for a tough grid encounter Friday night when West DePere will invade the local park for the second game in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. The game will be played under the lights and the starting whistle will blow at 8 o'clock.

The first night practice with the new team will be held under the lights tonight. Coach D. N. Stacy said yesterday. The local reserve strikers were scheduled to meet the Bear Creek High school football team in practice scrimmage here after school this afternoon.

Coach Stacy and Assistant Coach Charlesworth have been drilling the boys in fundamentals this week and attempting to correct the faults and shortcomings exhibited in the season's first game with Neenah last Saturday. New front line combinations have been tried in scrimmages this week and a change in line-up may appear in an attempt to forestall more 60-yard touch-down runs through the line.

West DePere is reported to have nearly a full team back this year but several star players were still missing last week.

Henry McDaniel Head of New London School Band

New London—The New London High school band formed its own organization at school Monday night and elected officers. Henry McDaniel was chosen president; Emory Danke, vice president; Helen Davy, secretary; and Harold Gottschewitz, treasurer. A party is planned for the near future.

FLAME TRAIL

Chapter 49
REVENGE MISFIRES
"ITCH 'em, damn you, and be quick about it!" Torn rudely from his musing, Ted whirled about to face Josh Hastings, gazing exultantly at him over the barrel of his gun. Ted obeyed with a grim smile, the ironic thought flashing through his mind that here was the probable ending of his career too, beside Marion's father. Lifting his eyes a second as he raised his hands, Ted saw a gleam in the topmost branch of the pine tree that spread over Josh Hastings. Instantly, his fatalistic acceptance of the inevitable, of the moment before, gave way to a renewed hope that reawakened all his natural instinct of self preservation. By one of those extraordinary freaks of forest fires, a spark had been carried an incredible distance, bringing destruction with it. If he could keep Josh Hastings from firing the fatal shot until-- "Reckon you won't need that second trial," Josh Hastings' voice brought Ted back from his desperate speculations. "I can save the state a lot of money, and nobody'll be any the wiser!" "Why didn't you do it in the first place, up on the central divide?" Ted grasped at anything to prolong the moment. "Because I intended to have you branded as a murderer in Kay Crandon's sight, and I expected you to die anyway," Hastings explained with brutal insolence. Out of the corner of Ted's eye he saw the figure of a man in a dark suit, a man who had been waiting for him. Turn to Page 21

Aldermen Study Speed Problem on Superhighway 41

City Attorney Instructed to Get Information From Commission

Kaukauna—Discussion of the installation of arterial signs, re-naming of certain Kaukauna streets and the laying down of a speed limit on Superhighway 41 through Kaukauna were the main items at the council's shortest meeting of the summer last night.

The proposed agreement between the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employees, Kaukauna local 130 and the city was laid over until the next meeting on a motion of Alderman Otto M. Ludeke. Alderman T. L. Segelink asked if any special reason were behind this motion, to which Ludeke replied that the chairman of the committee appointed to report on the agreement, Alderman W. H. Cooper, was acting as mayor, and another member of the council, Alderman Oscar Alger, was absent.

A petition requesting the installation of an arterial sign on Green and Division street was read. Alderman Cooper moved the petition be referred to the utilities commission. Alderman C. S. Mulholland then said the commission had already inspected the proposed site for the light, and that the commission was in general opposed to the granting of this and similar petitions, as it would establish a precedent and place an additional burden on the city. Alderman Walter Kilgus gave his opinion that the council should act immediately with reference to the commission. The matter was left unsettled.

Speed on New Road
Chief of Police James E. MacFadden reported that there was much speeding on Superhighway 41, many motorists apparently not realizing that the road ran through Kaukauna. Speeds of 60 to 70 miles an hour were not uncommon, he said. Children are crossing the highway daily on Green street and Maloney road. MacFadden added, and speed limits are necessary to insure their protection. Alderman Jules Mertes supported MacFadden, adding that in his opinion arterial signs should be put up on certain streets leading into Highway 41.

City attorney Harry F. McAndrews was then instructed to write to the state highway department to get information on the entire matter, both of making Highway 41 an arterial and as to what type of signs should be installed.

While the discussion centered about streets, Mertes pointed out that some Kaukauna streets have two names, and it would be a good idea to have but one name the length of a street. Segelink supported Mertes, saying that many people were confused especially by Ninth and Tenth street and Ninth and Tenth avenue. This matter was also put off until a future meeting.

Confere on Name
A letter from the state highway commission was read, suggesting the council confer with officials of the village of Little Chute in regard to giving the new Superhighway 41 one name through both Kaukauna and Little Chute. Aldermen Mulholland and Mertes were appointed to represent the council.

A letter from the Chicago and North Western Railway was read, saying that the wig-wag systems asked by the council for city installation had been referred to their traffic engineer for consideration. A new ordinance making changes in the electrical workers code was presented to the council, and it was laid over until the Oct. 5 meeting.

July Gross Earnings of City Utility Is $36,000

Kaukauna—Gross earnings of the city electrical department for July were $35,922.04, according to a report released at the council meeting last night. Cash discounts of $1,422.49 were given, leaving net receipts of $34,499.55. Operating expenses amounted to $29,626.40, giving a gross income of $4,873.15. Depreciation, reserves, taxes and interest were $4,020.70, giving a net operating income of $852.45. Sixteen new customers were added during the month, bringing the total to 3,335. The number of kilowatt hours generated was 2,519,331.

Three Teams Win Two In Commercial League

Kaukauna—At the first night's play in the newly organized Commercial bowling league three teams emerged tied for the lead. Gusman Chevrolet, Post Office and Pantry Lunch all won two games while dropping but one. The Mellow Brews, Hopfensperger's Meats and Miller High Lites each dropped two while winning one.

BARBIEUR FUNERAL

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Albert Barbier, who died Sunday in Tennessee, will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Francis' church in Hollandtown with Rev. Cornelius Raymakers in charge. Burial will be in the parish cemetery at Hollandtown.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 167. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Call Candidates for Semi-Pro Grid Team

Kaukauna—A meeting of all those interested in forming a Kaukauna semi-pro football team will be held at 7:30 Friday night at the Legion hall. Jerome Hilgenberg said yesterday. Two meetings have been called before, and the attendance has been poor, he said, with this being absolutely the last attempt he will make to organize a team. Everyone who comes out will play an equal amount of time with games being scheduled with teams in Madison, Milwaukee, Green Bay, Appleton and other cities. The team, if one is assembled, will be coached by Fay Posson, former Lawrence college and professional player.

Kaukauna Eleven In Hard Workout

Expect No Changes in Line For Clintonville Game Saturday

Kaukauna—For the second straight day Kaukauna high school gridgers went through a hard workout under the watchful eye of Coach Paul E. Little yesterday. From the minute limbering up exercises started to the last tackle of the scrimmage every player was busy.

Bill McCormick was out of the first team backfield because of a sore back, with Bill Peterson taking passes from a backfield position in place of McCormick. Norbert Ashe ran in Carl Gordan's position, with Vanervenhoven and Kobussen completing the backfield. No changes were made from the line which started against Shawano and which in Clintonville here Saturday. Bill Alger was at left end, Lambie at left tackle, Noie at left guard, Pendergast at center, Frank at right tackle, Hilgenberg at right guard and Hooyman at right end. Indications were that Little would spend some time polishing the team's work on both pass defense and offense, in which little was done before the Shawano game. The slow progress of the players in fundamental instructions as to the placing of punts and defensive measures when close to their own goal line will be emphasized.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The Royal Neighbors of America will give a public card party at 8 o'clock tonight at the Odd Fellows hall. There will be a short business meeting for members at 7 o'clock, preceding the card party.

The first meeting of the fall and winter season of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin will be held tonight at St. Mary's hall. This will be the only meeting before the state convention which will open at Beaver Dam next Tuesday.

A regular meeting of Odile Chapter No. 184, Order of Eastern Star, will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the Masonic hall. Walter P. Hagman will speak on his recent trip to Europe.

The Lutheran Young People's society met last night in the Lutheran school house. The social committee for the meeting consisted of Gertrude Deno, chairman, Robert Kindler, Irene Peters, Gilbert Arps, and Earl Ludeke. Routine business was transacted.

Twelve members of the Kaukauna Business and Professional Women's club were at the district meeting and garden party given by the Appleton club at the Conway hotel last night.

Those of the Kaukauna club who attended were: Blanche Gerend, Marie Mulholland, Eunice Mulholland, Bernice Happer, Anna Wolf, Alma Renn, Barbara Kramer, Ethel Kinsel, Alvina Marx, Mrs. Genevieve Andersen, Mrs. Joyce Capelen and Mrs. Olive Mill.

Kaukauna Golfers to Play New London Team

Kaukauna—Kaukauna golfers will be entertained next Sunday, Sept. 25, at the New London, Springvale golf course where a dual meet will be held with New London. New London defeated the Kaukauna club here about two weeks ago. The return match will begin at 1:30 in the afternoon, with the best golfers from each club participating.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Robert Mayer has returned to Madison to resume his medical studies after spending a week with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Mayer.

Fred Fink has returned to Kaukauna after a month's visit with relatives at Chicago.

William Busse, 126 Center street.

Kaukauna Faculty Names Co-Editors Of School Annual

Dolores Landreman and Neil McCarty Head Editorial Staff

Kaukauna—Dolores Landreman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Landreman, and Neil McCarty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCarty, 601 W. Wisconsin avenue, were named co-editors of the 1938 Papyrus, Kaukauna High school yearbook, at a meeting of the faculty yesterday afternoon, with Kathryn Van Leshout, daughter of Mrs. William Van Leshout, 110 Dolly street, named business manager of the publication.

The decision to have co-editors for the book, for the first time since publication 11 years ago, was reached when a deadlock in the faculty voting occurred after several ballots. Naming of the editors was placed in the hands of the teachers by the senior class, who voted to publish a yearbook at a class meeting a week ago.

The book's publication still hangs upon the approval of the board of education. Miss Landreman has been active in journalistic work at the high school for the last year, is now serving as president of Quill and Scroll, student journalistic society, and on the editorial board of the Papyrus. Neil McCarty, student newspaper editor, represented the high school at the National Scholastic Press association meeting in Madison a year ago. Other school activities include Cap and Bells, dramatic society, the school honor society, and work on the junior prom committee last spring.

Activities Varied
McCarty's activities vary from basketball to journalism, with photography as his avocation. He was a member of last season's basketball team, and is one of the two sports editors of the Kau-Hi News, besides belonging to the school honor society. He also was a school representative at the N. S. P. association meeting in Madison a year ago. He is a member of Quill and Scroll and since last spring has been a photographer for the 1938 Papyrus, covering spring school events until the regular staff is appointed this fall. He was chairman of the Junior prom decorating committee last year.

Miss Van Leshout's interest center in journalism and sale events of the glee club, of which she is president. The school tennis championship is also hers, by way of a variety of interests. She is a member of Quill and Scroll, a Kau-Hi News feature editor, and a member of the school honor society. She was a committee member for the Junior prom and as a sophomore was class treasurer.

could see the blazing branch directly over Josh Hastings' head. At all costs, he must hold his attention. "Kay Crandon will never believe I'm a murderer!" he challenged.

"Won't she, though? Hold it!" Hastings barked as Ted shifted from one foot to the other. "I've got a thing or two to tell you before I give you a duplicate of the shot that killed Scrap Johnson." He gave a harsh laugh at Ted's involuntary start. "Too bad you can't use that information, isn't it?" he sneered, in evident enjoyment of his revenge, and loath to terminate it too soon.

"Well, you know now it doesn't pay to try to get the best of Josh Hastings! You got the worst of it before, and this time—"

A great rending sound cut him short. Glancing up, he saw the burning branch crashing through the lower branches of the pine. With an oath he sprang back, his gun exploding harmlessly as Ted ducked.

But Josh Hastings was the fraction of a second too late. The burning branch struck him a glancing blow on the head, and he pitched forward.

Saving The Murderer
Ted sprang to his side, and dragged his unconscious form away from the fire that licked up the dry pine needles, creeping toward him. With superhuman strength, half dragging, half carrying him, Ted made his way back to where he had tethered his mount.

He seized his rope and tied Josh Hastings' wrists and ankles. Then he slung him over the saddle and, guiding his frightened horse, started to retrace his steps.

In the far distance he could hear shouts, as the fire fighters faltered to this new area of danger. But after a moment's hesitation, Ted pushed on, with an anxious eye on his unconscious burden.

One thought was uppermost in Ted's mind: He must save Josh Hastings until he could repeat that confession before witnesses. His freedom and his whole future depended on it! If Josh Hastings died now, even though Ted might escape, his name would never be cleared. Suspicion would always cling to him and he would be handicapped by this cloud on his reputation, wherever he might go.

He must get back to Marion, with the news about her father, and between them they must revive Josh Hastings enough to force the confession from him that he had killed Scrap Johnson and framed Ted for the murder.

Riding when possible, and walking over the steep places where his mount could not carry double, Ted pushed ahead over the interminable backward trail to Marion's shack.

It had been hard enough going before. Now, as he left the illumination of the conflagration behind, Ted found it almost impossible to negotiate the return trip with the double handicap of his unconscious burden and the darkness, with no stars to guide him.

After pushing on blindly for what seemed an eternity, he decided finally that he would save time in the long run by waiting for the dawn. He called a halt and lifted off the bulky form of Josh Hastings. Laying him on the ground, he bent close to feel his prisoner's pulse and listen to his heart.

Reassured as to his condition, in spite of the coma into which he had sunk, Ted threw himself down beside him, and was soon lost in a sleep of utter exhaustion.

When he woke, he uttered an exclamation of amazement and dismay to find the sun so high. His exhausted frame, worn out by the strain of the last few nights, had played him false, and instead of the short nap he had expected to take, he must have been asleep for hours.

He glanced over at Josh Hastings and breathed a sigh of relief to find him about as he had been before, still breathing heavily, in the stupor in which his blow on the head had left him.

Ted rose to his feet, and went a short distance to a rocky projection to get his bearings. A long low whistle escaped him, as he gazed incredulously at the panorama stretched out before him.

Hastings Tries A Dicker
He glanced up at the sun, as though challenging its right to be where it was, then looked once more at the cloud of smoke that hung heavy over the ridges. But instead of being behind him, it was to the north and east, and the mountains Ted had expected to get his bearings by, had shifted to unfamiliar outlines.

Admitting finally the evidence of his own senses, Ted was forced to the conclusion that he had completely lost his way in the darkness the night before, and had gone off at a tangent to the southwest, instead of retracing his steps to the north, as he thought he had been doing.

Ted cursed his impetuous haste that had led him astray, as he hurried back to Josh Hastings. Before preparing for the long ride, he ate a bite of the lunch that Marion had insisted on tying to the crutch of his saddle.

Refreshed by the food and his long sleep, he hoisted Josh Hastings' unconscious body across his horse, and started back.

A fresh breeze had sprung up, and Ted glanced uneasily at the tree tops swaying above him to gauge its velocity. It was characteristic of the mountains to have a wind start up around noon, but this one seemed to be gathering alarming force. Once get a strong wind behind the fire, and there was no predicting the extent of the destruction that would most certainly ensue.

Ted resolutely pushed on, following the same method he had the night before of sometimes riding, but more often walking. Only this time he was traveling in the right direction.

He hated to think of the added anxiety Marion would have over his delay, but there was no help for it. There was one good point, anyway. He was well out of the probable range of the fire fighters, and therefore stood a better chance to escape premature delivery into their hands.

Suddenly, as he walked up a steep incline beside his mount, Ted became aware of a groan and eyes staring at him. Glancing down, he saw that Josh Hastings had regained consciousness.

He made a tentative struggle to free himself, but Ted called a peremptory halt.

"The tables are turned, now," he explained curtly. "If you know what's good for you, you'll keep still!"

A look of hatred flashed in Josh Hastings' eyes before he closed them, and let his head flop back weakly.

"My head!" he groaned. "Water!"

Without a word, Ted took his canteen and put it to Josh Hastings' lips. He took greedy sips of the

"Proper Training Should Begin at Home--- and Children Should Dine in Public at Least Once a Week"

If your child's daily lessons in table etiquette are confined solely to the limits of the home, he is liable to grow shy and embarrassed when dining in public. This is easily avoided by regular family "dining-out" parties. If this plan is faithfully followed, the child overcomes self-consciousness. He learns to eat correctly, without embarrassment in public as well as at home, and because he is in that impressionable age, gathers valuable information while watching and listening to others.

Hear Janette Serree's lecture tonight at CASTLE HALL, S. P. M. on food and health. Also style show and other interesting demonstrations.

Family dinner parties at The Conway cost no more than the average "large" dinner served at home. The environment of dining out affords a change for the entire family. The fact coupled with the reasonably priced menus explains WHY The Conway Hotel service is so popular.

Cattle Prices in Renewed Upturn

Values at Chicago Stockyards Highest in Almost 18 Years

Chicago-47-The highest price for cattle in almost 18 years was paid in the Chicago livestock market today when a load of prime grain fed steers brought $19.50 per hundredweight.

This was 40 cents higher than last week's 17-year peak.

The top was within a dime of the all-time record high for September. Choice and prime medium weighty steers rose 25 cents.

Hogs were steady to 10 cents lower, although mostly unchanged.

Lambs pointed downward in the face of a run of 18,000 head of sheep. Indications were that prices were to be 25 cents or more lower.

Today's Market At a Glance

1,000 Legionnaires in Pilgrimage to France

New York-47-The American Legion's "20 years ago" pilgrimage to the battlefields of France started today when 1,000 legionnaires sailed for Europe on the Cunard liner Queen Mary.

Others of the 6,000 persons expected to make the pilgrimage will sail at various times between now and Saturday. The guests of the French republic for five days.

Indiana Farmer's Cow

Portland, Ind., 47-Farmer Joe Bryan's contented cows-made that way, he reported recently to the department of agriculture, by radio music-don't care for soprano solos.

"They get nervous," Bryan said today in reporting that the right kind of music soothes his cows and makes them give more milk "when they hear a woman singing a solo."

Bryan has a radio in his barn, and he says he gets the soft instrumental music, he said, the cows keep happy.

September Corn Up 8 Cents Late In Day's Trading

Fresh Outbursts of Bidding Follow Decline of 4 Cents

Chicago-47-Despite greatly increased requirements of funds precluded for trading, September corn late today ran up 8 cents a bushel, about the extreme immediate limit allowable.

At one stage, a setback of 4 cents from top prices for September corn resulted from the augmented difficulties of trading. However, fresh outbursts of anxious bidding followed and the day's apex was reached a little before the final gong sounded.

At the close, corn futures were 3 to 4 cents above yesterday's finish, Sept. 1.121-1/2, Dec. 651, wheat unchanged to 1/2 lower, Sept. 1.051, Dec. 1.051-1/2, and oats 1/2 off to 1 up.

182 Enrolled at Weyauwega High In Current Term

Total Number About Forty More Than Best Previous Record

Weyauwega.—Enrollment at Weyauwega high school this fall is the greatest in the history of the school, topping the best previous record by about forty students. Only three of the 182 desks in the assembly room are vacant. Four years ago there were 110 and last year 140.

The freshman and junior classes each have 50 students, and there are 45 sophomores and 37 seniors. Enrollment in the grades is slightly lower than last year, however, there being a total of 182 pupils, as compared with 193 in 1936. The kindergarten has 14 pupils; first grade, 25; second, 30; third, 19; fourth, 21; fifth, 24; sixth, 15; seventh, 13; eighth, 27.

Two changes occurred in the grade school faculty and a new teacher was added to the high school staff. Miss Evelyn Peterson, who was the fourth grade teacher last year, was replaced by Miss Rella Tinnerack, who formerly taught kindergarten. Her place in kindergarten has been taken by Miss Rose Seitz of Cudahy. As yet no one has been hired to fill the vacancy made by the recent resignation of Miss Jessie Cottrill, who is now teaching in New London. Mrs. Charles Peterson, Jr., is substituting in the second and third grade room until a new teacher can be obtained.

Mrs. Irvin Rieck is substituting in Principal Arlie Koten's place. He is confined to his bed with rheumatism. The increased enrollment in high school has necessitated having another teacher. Thomas Gerlach of Weyauwega has been given this position. He is teaching two sections each of chemistry and junior business and one class of algebra.

New high school subjects are advanced shorthand and typing. Band practice is held in the gymnasium daily from 8:15 to 9 o'clock instead of after school as formerly.

High School Newspaper Gets Honorary Award

International first place recognition has been given to the Tallman high school newspaper, by the Quill and Scroll Honorary society of Chicago. The judges, under the auspices of the Medill School of Journalism, recognized the Tallman as an outstanding newspaper achievement.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport. Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three critical days of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

GILT EDGED DEBUT

Gloria Baker (above), 18-year-old half sister of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, was presented to society in New York at a lavish debut party attended by more than 1,000 guests and estimated to have cost $50,000.

Mrs. Towne Head of Salvation Army Fund Drive at Hortonville

Hortonville.—Mrs. F. Towne has been named chairman of the Home Service appeal in Hortonville, from Sept. 23 to 27. N. O. Heltzerhoff has been named treasurer. The quota has been set at $100.

"The Salvation Army is ministering to the spiritual and material needs of the homeless, the helpless, and the friendless in our midst. The sick, the discouraged, the unemployed even the criminal are its special charges. It ministers to men, women and children who are not reached by churches or welfare organizations. Its work begins where other agencies leave off," the new chairman said.

"The Salvation Army staff is a company of trained workers who have dedicated their lives to the service of humanity and who know from long experience how to deal with human lives. They are asking us just once a year to be partners with them in their service of helpfulness. It is our privilege just now to raise the budget they are asking for their work during the coming year. I am sure that the good people of our community will be generous in response to their call."

Seeks Increase in Old Age Pension

Rohan Says He'll Ask Governor to Arrange for New Legislation

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison.—Assemblyman William Rohan, insurgent Kaukauna Democrat, said here yesterday that he will call upon Governor Philip F. LaFollette to arrange for old age pension legislation during the special session of the legislature.

Rohan, who had prepared a bill of his own to increase old age pensions during the regular 1937 session, but which died with half a dozen similar measures, warned that he will make the Progressives platform pledges for "adequate old age pensions" a campaign issue in Outagamie county next year if the governor does not listen to his demands during the current session.

Old age pensions should be not less than $40 a month, said Rohan, who pointed out that the LaFollette administration's proposed retirement of state supreme court and circuit court judges contemplated generous pension allowances, and without the transfer of property as a requisite for eligibility.

George M. Keith, supervisor of the state pension department, yesterday reported that the average old age assistance payment in Wisconsin during the month of August was $19.60.
